Youth Drink More, Smoke Less

San Mateo County teen-agers are smoking less but drinking more, according to a report released by the San Mateo County Narcotic Advisory Committee.

A survey of 23,649 high school students and 2,234 seventh and eighth grade students, the report shows, indicates that the use of tobacco is diminishing, but that more youngsters are hitting the bottle.

The report was prepared for the committee by Lilian S. Blackford, county health and welfare statistician.

"Turning Point"

Also made public today was the annual report of the Narcotic Advisory Committee to the County Board of Supervisors, calling for the establishment of an independent narcotic commission to do intensive work in the field of drug abuse.

Mrs. Blackford said the statistics on the use of tobacco indicate a possible "turning point" with the "tide beginning to go in the other direction."

She said she could not explain with any assurance the stemming trend away from cigarettes, but thought that anti-smoking commercials on TV might be a factor. She noted that the quality of the anti-smoking ads has improved to the point where they are equal to the regular cigarette commercials.

Dr. Stanford B. Rossiter, chairman of the Narcotic Advisory Committee and acting president of the San Mateo County Citizens' Committee on Drug Abuse, gave some credit or the downward trend to the intelligence of the youngsters.

"They are beginning to realize," he said, "that if they smoke they are not likely to live to collect their Social Security." Dr. Rossiter said the figures tend to explode the popular theory that teen-agers have rejected alcohol in favor of other kinds of mind-altering drugs. The use of alcohol, he declared, is "sweeping up on a sort of parallel path with the use of other drugs."

In 1968 a total of 18,774 high school students answered questionnaires distributed by the Narcotic Advisory Committee. The 1969 survey included all county high school districts, except South San Francisco, which chose not to participate, and all private and parochial schools except Menlo School.

Mrs. Blackford explained that because the 1968 survey made it obvious that drug usage started with some youngsters before high school, a sampling of seventh and eighth graders was made this year.

The students were asked to state whether they had used alcohol, tobacco, LSD, marijuana or amphetamines within the past year and to indicate the frequency of use. The survey was set up so that no individuals could be identified, nor could the schools be separated for comparison.

Mrs. Blackford said, however, that a cursory review indicated that drug usage was slightly lower in private and parochial schools than in public schools.

She noted that the rate of use of all substances increased with grade and that boys were heavier users than girls.

Drug Survey

Statistics on LSD, marijuana and the amphetamines gleaned from the last survey are still being analysed and will be made public in about two weeks, Dr. Rossiter said.

The committee's report to the Board of Supervisors states:

"Marijuana, used or possessed, continues to present the major problem in law enforcement. The penalties for possession or growing marijuana have been criticized as inappropriate by responsible members of our society."

One of the group's recommendations, however, is that the

S.M. County Will Ponder Joint Effort

County Manager M. D. Tarshes was requested by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday to recommend whether San Mateo County should participate in a financial and physical feasibility study for extension of a Bay Area Rapid Transit District rail line from Daly City to San Francisco International Airport.

Tarshes was authorized to confer with Glen Ireland, first manager of the now-defunct West Bay Rapid Transit Authority, in preparing his recommendation.

Ireland accompanied Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald to a meeting yesterday in San Francisco with some members of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors to discuss the proposed BARTD extension to the airport.

Fitzgerald said that he has never seen members of the San Francisco board so concerned over a matter as they are over the proposed extension.

This stems, he stated, from the fact that Oakland presently has under way a study for the extension of BARTD facilities from Oakland to the Oakland Colesium, the Oakland Port Authority's multi-million dollar motel-hotel-restaurant complex and to the Oakland International Airport.

"I got the feeling that San Francisco supervisors have come to the realization that San Francisco Airport is in jeopardy of becoming a second class airport because of the lack of public transportation to and from the airport," Fitzerald said.

The supervisor reported that the San Francisco board has before it today for action a resolution creating a joint powers agreement between the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission and BARTD for the feasibility study.

San Mateo County will be invited to participate, Fitzgerald said, with the indication that if it does it will be given "credit" for information it can supply from studies made by the WBRTA.

Fitzgerald added that he was

ALEX L. METAS, 34-year-old shipfitter of 635 Heather Court, Pacifica, was injured seriously Monday when his car crashed into a tree off of Skyline Boulevard in Pacifica. Highway Patrolman Milton Stark said Metas was driving southbound at 7:40 p.m. through heavy fog when his sedan slid out of control on a curve 300 feet south of King Drive, crossed the roadway and smacked into the tree 15 feet from the edge of the road. Metas was knocked unconscious and pinned in the wreckage. Four Pacifica firemen, above, assisted by Pacifica police and highway patrolmen, pried the victim out. Stark said Metas suffered leg fractures and severe facial and arm lacerations, in addition to head injuries. (Post Photo by Burton)

Beach Rezone Action Today On Coastside

Pacifica councilmen reintroduced an ordinance to rezone the Wander Inn beach property for commercial and apartment development July 14th, and final approval of the proposed zoning change is expected at a special council meeting tonight.

Developer Kurt Heath revealed plans for an apartment complex and a small convention center on the 22-acre site nearly two years ago, but city officials, seeking to guarantee commercial development of the beachfront, have proceeded cautiously in approving the zoning changes.

Present plans call for construction of 600 apartment units, a 300-room motel and a 600-seat convention center, along with a number of specialty shops in the complex.

Under the city ordinance introduced Monday, the developer must obtain building permits for the convention center at the time he applies for permits to build the first 200 units of the apartment complex, and construction of the convention center is to begin within 90 days of construction of the apartments.

The ordinance also specifies that the convention center must be completed within 27 months of the first apartment construction.

Heath will be denied occupancy permits for the apartments if the commercial aspects of the development are not completed within the specified time limit, under terms of the ordinance.

Approval of the zoning change was held up for several months because of differences between

CATHOLIC PROPERTY

Permit to Grade

A grading permit for the site of a once-proposed Roman Catholic Church-school complex was approved Monday by the South San Francisco council, but a spokesman for the San Francisco Archdiocese said there are no current plans for development of the site.

The grading permit application, submitted by Dennis J. Shanagher, architect for the Roman Catholic Archbishop of San Francisco, calls simply for "rough grading of a future Catholic parish site" on Callan Boulevard in the Westborough Planned Community.

Plans for development of the eight-acre site as a church, parish hall, high school and elementary school touched off a heated controversy in the city two years ago.

Church officials withdrew their use permit application for the complex after meeting stiff opposition from South San Francisco Planner Daniel Pass and some other city officials, and have remained silent about future plans for the site.

Pass based his objections to the proposed development upon the contention that the high school to be included in the complex would represent a "regional use," and would attract young persons from neighboring cities into the Westborough residential area.

He also pointed out that the church development would remove "valuable tax lands" from the city's tax rolls, and would exhaust one of the city's last remaining areas suitable for residential development.

The planner agreed several months ago to recommend approval of the project with the provision that the parochial high school be deleted from the plans.

Church officials chose to withdraw the use permit application a short time later.

Shanagher said Monday he knows of no specific development plans now under consideration for the site, and that the grading proposed will be of a "rough" and general nature.

He indicated the grading is being undertaken at this time to coincide with grading operations on neighboring residential propety owned by the J. H. Snyder Co.

The grading permit was issued under the condition that "a letter be submitted by the J. H. Snyder Company stating he proposed grading conforms to the grades proposed for West Park Three."

The permit also required an agreement between the J. H. Snyder Company and the archdiocese "whereby the J. H. Snyder Company agrees to accept the storm drainage which runs off from the graded area into their property."

Drugs: How To Reach County Youth

Because educational efforts in high schools have been ineffective in checking the mushrooming increase in drug use among San Mateo County teen-agers, intensive education should be directed at two other age groups, (1) parents and public, and (2) elementary school students.

That finding is made in the annual report of the County Narcotics Advisory Committee, made public yesterday by Dr. Stanford R. Rossier, committee chairman.

"It has become obvious during the past year, the report states, "that drug abuse in adolescent society is probably permanently imbedded, never to clear spontaneously." The public must be brought to this realization. The task is too great for control by the usual methods of those in authority — the police and courts, the legislature, the educators, the hospitals and clinics, charitable and service organizations of the churches. Wherever there is a problem in drug abuse, there is a problem in family and community relations."

Concerning the need for concentrated educational efforts in the elementary schools:

"No age group is so susceptible to the influence of older students and adventurous peers as is the 11 to 14 age group. Conditioning towards drug abuse begin at even earlier ages when older siblings use drugs."

A student survey conducted by the committee, partial results of which were released yesterday, indicated that 52 per cent of boys and 38 per cent of girls in the seventh grade and 60 per cent of boys and 50 per cent of girls in the eighth grade had used alcohol at least once during the preceding year.

The figures on the use of tobacco were 43 per cent of boys and 38 per cent of girls in the seventh grade and 51 per cent of boys and 50 per cent of girls in the eighth grade.

Statistics on the use of marijuana, LSD and amphetimines are being analyzed before being released to the public in about two weeks. Mrs. Lilian Blackford, statistician in the County Health and Welfare Departmen, said indications are that they will be correspondingly high.

In the committee report to the County Board of Supervisors Dr. Rossiter calls the possession and use of marijuana "the ma-

DALY CITY City Clerk Anna Ohlendorf, stricken last week with internal hemorrhaging and rushed to St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco, was expected to return home today. Mrs. Ohlendorf had been confined to the hospital's Intensive Care Unit since being admitted on Friday. She was placed in a private room Monday.

Lycett Says Funds Due In 1970-71

The California State Highway Commission has agreed to set aside some $5 million for completion of the Cabrillo Freeway in the 1970-71 road-building budget.

Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett brought the good news back with him Monday upon his return from San Diego where he met with the seven-member commission.

"They listened politely and promised to budget the funds necessary to finish the job," Lycett said.

Presently, the Cabrillo dumps an increasing number of motorists onto St. Francis Boulevard—a residential street.

From that point drivers are required to negotiate neighborhood streets until they reach Skyline Boulevard.

Target date for completion of the new road was some four years away.

"My meeting with the Commission has brought that date closer by about three years," the mayor pointed out.

Residents of the St. Francis area had bitterly complained about using their neighborhood as a freeway detour last spring. Lycett took their appeal directly to the commission and came away pleased with the results.

The State has already purchased the right-of-way along the route and in some places has graded the roadway.

With the huge interchange completed, motorists will have a direct link between Skyline Boulevard and Junipero Serra Freeway.

FISHERMEN lined the rocks along the coast at Pacifica last weekend to compete in the Pacifica Jaycees' Sixth Annual West Coast Striped Bass Derby. In the first four days of this year's contest, over 50 fish were registered. The Bass Derby will continue through September 7, and the Jaycees will award prizes valued at more than $2,000 to the winning anglers. (Post Photo by Donna Starr)

Mateo, S.F. Supervisors Get Together

By FRANK LaPIERRE

San Mateo County supervisor James V. Fitzgerald met Monday with San Francisco officials to lay the groundwork for construction of a proposed rapid transit extension to International Airport.

The closed-door meeting was held in Boas' downtown San Francisco office on Market Street and included representatives from the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission; City Planner Alan Jacobs; John Anderson, assistant deputy for development; Justin Herman, San Francisco Redevelopment head; Bill Stokes, executive director of BARTD; and, Glenn Ireland, formerly affiliated with the Westbay Rapid Transit District.

Three San Francisco supervisors—Terry Francois, Jim Mailliard and Bob Mendelsohn—attended the meeting in addition to Supervisor Boas.

The informal meeting ended with the group agreeing on a three-point program aimed at "getting things going" on the extension.

1. The financial and physical feasability of extending the present terminus station in Daly City to International Airport.

2. The study will be undertaken by City Planning Department, PUC and BARTD under a joint powers agreement.

This agreement left the door open for San Mateo County to join in the study.

Administration of the study will be controlled under the guidance of a "Board of Control" which will actually run the study. Once the group is formed, they will make application for federal funds.

(Oakland and BARTD made similar application some months ago and have received financial assistance regarding their study of a rail link to Oakland Internation Airport, the meeting was told.

3. The matter was expected to formally move ahead Tuesday when Boas proposes a resolution authorizing the PUC and City Planning Department to join BARTD, and possibly San Mateo County, in a joint venture powers agreement.

Boas said he would submit the resolution for action at the 2 p.m. meeting.

Rail Link Pondered

under the impression that a federal grant will be sought to help finance the study because of the government's interest in solving regional transportation problems concerning airports, not only from the point of public convenience, but also for providing a connection between the two major airports.

There was indication that San Francisco will proceed on the matter with or without San Mateo County participation, the supervisor said. He noted that San Francisco and its PUC already owns 90 per cent of the proposed right-of-way for the BARTD extension to the airport.

Also, he stated it was indicated at yesterday's meeting that with San Mateo County participation a "stub" would be constructed in connection with extension of the BARTD line in or-

In the Future

However, that would be in the distant future and would have to wait on Santa Clara County participation in a rapid transit program, Fitzgerald said.

Board Chairman Robert St. Clair emphasized that participation by the county in the feasibility study wouldn't mean the county is going into an immediate transit program.

No date was set for submission of a recommendation by Tarshes.

use of marijuana should continue to be banned and its possession should remain illegal.

The group's other recommendations:

1. Appointment of an independent narcotic commission with a full-time executive director.

2. Active support be given a drug abuse program planned by the mental health division of the Health and Welfare Department.

3. The Board of Supervisors give priority to funding innovative programs formulated by county agencies dealing with drug abuse.

The latest survey shows that students in all age groups, both boys and girls, are drinking more this year than last.

Among boys, these percentages said they used alcohol 10 or more times during the preceding year: freshmen, 26.8; sophomores, 36.8; juniors, 43.5; seniors, 52.6. The comparable figures for 1968 were 21.4, 24.7, 35.6 and 41.6. Among junior high school students, 10.9 per cent of seventh graders and 18.3 per cent of eighth graders admitted drinking more than 10 or more times in the preceding year.

The 1969 figures for girls: seventh grade, 8.2 per cent; eighth grade, 16.2; freshmen, 20.9; sophomores, 25.0; juniors, 30.4; seniors, 34.3. The figures were up 6 to 10 per cent over 1968.

Mrs. Blackford, in searching for possible explanations for the decline in tobacco usage, noted that "it is sometimes rumored that an increasing use of marijuana might be displacing some of the cigaret smoking."

jor problem in law enforcement." And as for drinking:

"The abuse of alcohol continues to be a greater sociologic disaster than drug abuse."

The chairman noted a "significant" increase in the use of hard narcotics, such as the opiates, during the past four years.

Dr. Rossiter blamed at least some of the problem on "significant defects in the adolescent environment," including: deterioration of family relationships, uncommitted and unproductive leisure time of young people, receding opportunities for recreation and employment of young people, unsupervised teen-a activity in cars, distortion of adolescent attitudes toward law and social order, the increasing complexity of society and its violable laws, urbanization and progressive technology which create problems at a faster rate then society can adopt, the inability of the "Establishment" to define itself and set its goals, overt conflicts such as civil rights movements and the war in Vietnam, the availability of drugs and traffic and profit, and the subversive support of the drug culture and traffic.

"The broad shape of society, in addition to local and extended government, must change in order to provide alternatives preferable to those leading to drug abuse," the report states. Social innovations on a broad scale should be encouraged."

Cancer Detection Study in Pacifica

The cancer detection project of San Mateo County Branch, American Cancer Society, will be conducted in Pacifica on Saturday, July 26, as the sixth in a series of free clinics designed to discover incidence of undetected cancer among women in the county.

Free pap tests, pelvic and breast examinations will be included in the health checkup.

The clinics are open to all women, but are particularly aimed at those who are not under regular care of a private physician.

Pacifica's uterine cancer examinations will be given from 9 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at Faith Baptist Church (the Little Brown Church); 1850 Francisco Boulevard.

Volunteer physicians, registered nurses and professional social service workers—the last to assist with referrals for medical treatment when needed, conduct the examinations. The professional staff at Pacifica will include Dr. Paul Neagle, Mary's Help Hospital, cytology readings; Dr. Beverly Thomas and physicians from the obstetrical-gynocological staff of Mary's Help Hospital; Betty Guittard, R.N., Mary Gagneschi, R.N., Teresa Skog, R.N., and Sandy Broock, L.V.N.

Community support of the Cancer Society's free health checkup also comes from churches and schools who help spread word of the clinic and from a group of volunteers serving as a transportation corps on clinic day. Cars identified with an American Cancer Society sign will leave at 8:30 a.m., 10:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. for clinic headquarters from the following shopping centers: Fairmont, Pacific Manor, Vallemar, Linda Mar and Eureka Square.

D.C. Holdup

'Bonnie and Clyde'? Or 'Clyde and Clyde'?

Conflicting descriptions of the two suspects who held up the First National Bank of Daly City Friday and fled with an undisclosed amount of cash, have police and FBI agents in a tizzy.

The only thing police are absolutely certain of is that two persons—one armed with a sawed-off "over and under" shotgun—held up the Skyline Plaza Branch of the bank Friday morning shortly after 10 a.m. and made good their escape in a Volkswagen camper.

Eyewitnesses even disagree on the color of the camper—some claim the vehicle was a pale yellow, while others insist it was white with out-of-state license plates.

Employees of the bank, however, are unanimous regarding what occured when the pair walked in at 10:08 a.m.

One of the bank robbers walked directly up to teller Karin Buro's window (the fourth teller window) pulled the shotgun out from under a coat and laid it on the counter pointing it at teller Buro.

In a "cool" voice the suspect said "Don't move, don't push any buttons. This is a stickup. If you push anything I will kill you all—I don't care. . . ."

Sensing something was wrong, bank manager Elmer Littlejohn went to the teller's window in time to hear the orders. He helped stuff money into a brown bag that was shoved over the counter by the suspect.

Both manager Littlejohn and teller Buro described the robber as between 27-28 years old, slender build, five-foot three-inch to 5-foot seven-inch with dark curles in front and long auburn hair in back, leading investigators to believe the robber was wearing a wig. It was also noted this suspect needed a shave.

Suspect number two stood away from the counter and was described as 17-26 years old, five-foot eight-inches to five-foot nine-inches, slender build, weighing about 140 pounds and wearing a light-colored windbreaker, oval sunglasses and a grey sweatshirt with the hood pulled up. Suspect two was clean-shaven witnesses agreed.

But two young men entering the bank just as the two robbers were exiting, threw a monkey wrench into the works when they told police suspect one—the robber armed with the shotgun—was, in fact, a "well-proportioned" female wearing a low cut purple dress.

The witnesses said the dress, covered by a coat, brought the woman to their attention and there was "no doubt" she was a female.

As a matter of fact, one of the unidentified youths told investigators, "she" carried a purse and was more like 19-22 years old and five-foot six-inches with auburn hair.

Still other bank witnesses thought perhaps the man (suspect two) was a woman and the woman (suspect one) was a man.

"I don't know if it was a Bonnie and Clyde robbery, or a Clyde and Clyde or a Bonnie and Bonnie robbery. I think I have an Excedrin headache," the detective said.

the city and the developer over a stretch of beach area to be dedicated for public use.

Heath promised to give the city a 50-foot stretch of beach when he first applied for the zoning change.

However, upon examining construction maps for the project, city officials discovered that most of the beach area to be donated to the city would be under water most of the time.

The new agreement provides that the strip of public beach be measured from the average high tide level.

City Attorney John Sherman advised councilmen to delay action on the zoning ordinance again Monday, but the ordinance was approved for introduction after the applicant noted he has been waiting more than two years for city approval.

Councilman Rick Wallis, who introduced the ordinance, questioned whether the city was being "to conservative" in the long delays.

The vote for approval was 4-0. Councilman Harland Monshew was not present at the meeting.

Forbes Pact Unlet

By DON GRIERSON

South San Francisco councilmen Monday declined to award a contract for the extension of Forbes Boulevard in the Cabot, Cabot and Forbes Industrial Park after it was revealed the $1 million project would bring abouf a financial deficit for the assessment district in the industrial area.

The council declined to award the construction contract to the low bidder upon the advice of City Attorney John Noonan, even though the assessment district's "engineer of work," Sam Nash, recommended acceptance of the bid.

The low bid, entered by the McGuire and Hester Company, was $956,000. The assessment district currently has on hand only $822,000, according to the engineer's report.

The bid of $956,000, lowest of three entered on the project, is more than $100,000 higher than estimates prepared by a consulting firm.

Councilmen agreed during a caucus session Monday afternoon to award the contract to the low bidder provided that Cabot, Cabot and Forbes Co. would "guarantee in writing that they will pay the additional $134,000 not available in assessment district funds."

Nash said company officials had agreed earlier to make up the difference between the low bid and available district funds and regain their investment through additional assessments on new lots to be sold in the industrial park.

"This is common practice, and it has been done here before," Nash said.

However, he was unable to contact a company official in time for the Monday night council meeting, and councilmen declined to approve the contract award on a "Conditional" basis.

Councilman Frank Mammini and Vice Mayor Warren Steinkamp indicated they would not award the contract "until we receive some sort of guarantee as to where the additional money is coming from."

City Manager T. P. McKenzie pointed out that the city is the "underlying guarantor" for the assessment district, and could conceivably be held responsible for the additional $134,000.

McKenzie was highly critical of the Cabot, Cabot and Forbes Company's failure to inform the city of the $134,000 shortage "until three hours prior to the council meeting."

"As the district's guarantor, it is not right that the city was not informed of this shortage earlier," the manager said.

He joined the city attorney in opposing acceptance of the bid Monday.

Daly City's Sky Lions Aid Blind

The Sky Lions of Daly City invited their wives to join them in a recent visit to the Lions Eye Foundation in San Francisco recently. The occasion was an open house held by the Foundation to give the public the opportunity to see the newly refurbished building and the many special pieces of equipment that the Foundation now has acquired. The building houses the Eye Pathology Lab, a classroom for Opthalmology resident's lectures and seminars, an Opthalmology Library, and offices. After the tour of inspection, the Sky Lions and their Ladies joined with the Foundation's members in a dinner meeting.

A special interest was taken by the Sky Lions as they are supporting members of the Lions Eye Foundation, which is one of the few existing Eye Banks on the West Coast and is a member of th Eye Bank Association of America. The purpose of the Association is to furnish tissue needs for transplants. While the Eye Bank has large numbers of pledges to donate eyes on file, the acutal number of eyes received each month. is insufficient. When an urgent need arises, and the tissue is unavailale, the Eye Bank turns to the Association for help in locating available tissue.

All the Lions Clubs of District 4C4 (San Mateo and San Francisco counties) are all 100 per cent in support of the Foundation. When special eye problems arise, application for the eye clinic are handled through the local club, who then sends the patient on to the Foundation.

MEXICAN VISITOR—J. Trinidad Aguila Zepada, vice presidente municipal, or vice mayor, of Guadalajara, Mexico's second largest city, visited the county courthouse yesterday with Adolph Fernandez, left, recently retired head of the fraud and fugitive detail of the district attorney's office, whom he is visiting in San Bruno. Zepada, who is full time head of public works and parks and gardens in Guadalajara, the capital of the state of Jalisco, is a relative of Fernandez' cousin, Ollalo Fernandez of San Francisco. He said his city of 1,300,000 people has 600 policemen but only 60 firemen because of the mostly stone construction of buildings. As in the United States, he said, money is the biggest problem, with the municipal budget being 100 million pesos, or about $1 million a year. The municipal official came to California to become an honorary citizen of Downey, the southern California community that is Guadalajara's "sister city."

Senior High camp will be directed by Rev. Maynor Reed of Grace Baptist of Napa, with speakers Rev. Ken Poure and Rev. Curtis Mitchell, Professor of Old and New Testament at Biola College, La Mirada, Calif.

Youth from Westside attending will be: Junior High; Margaret McDaniel, Kurt Donnelly, Gary Bergesson. Senior High; Bob Besser, Ron Besser, Willie and Troy Reid, Roger Hillerstrom, Stan Albrechtsen, Dave Pollock and Paul Donnelly.

Sunday at the 11 a.m. Morning Worship Hour, Pastor Donnelly will speak of the topic "Walk in Light." Special music for this service will be the Ladies Trio, Mrs. Betty Swanson, Misses Marion Hillerstrom and Diane Swedberg.

During the adult worship hour, a Primary Church service is had for boys and girls four through seven years of age. Mrs. Jean Hernandez is in charge, with Mrs. Rosa Donnelly, assisting.

Police Car Is Damaged

Vandals used rocks to smash out the windshield, spotlight, turn signals and headlights of a Daly City police car Saturday.

Officer Fred Holewinske said he parked his patrol car on a street adjacent to the Garnet Robertson School about 6:15 p.m. while he walked through the area checking buildings.

When he returned some 15 minutes later he spotted the damage.

D.C. Youth, Hit By Auto, Dies

Ernest Gonzalez, 19, of Daly City, died Saturday after he apparently ran in front of an oncoming car on Skyline Boulevard.

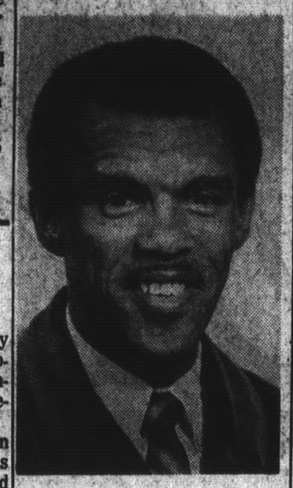
Police said Gonzalez had run in front of another car moments earlier but the driver swerved out of the way.

Gonzalez had lived at 14 San Miguel Avenue, Daly City.

Police Community Relations Head to Install CITY Staff

Rodney Williams, a veteran San Francisco police officer recently elevated to head the important Police-Community Relations unit, will preside as installing officer at the sixth annual installation of officials of Community Interaction Through You (CITY) Thursday, July 24, at 8 p.m. in the Coral Room of the War Memorial Building.

Williams, who attended San Francisco City College and San Francisco State, has spent 14 years as a police officer, the last 3½ with the Community Relations unit.



RODNEY WILLIAMS

A veteran of the Korean War, Williams has spent much of his recent time in police work as a liaison officer for the Western Addition community and in the war on poverty program.

CITY Chairman, Ed Eastman, stated that "It is a real honor for CITY and for Daly City that Rodney Williams can find time to come here and install our new officers."

Still another distinguished guest speaker will introduce officer Williams. Attorney David Weaver, a man long active in civil rights work, has agreed to introduce the principal speaker.

This marks the start of an intensive membership campaign for CITY.

Eastman went on to add that "CITY intends to continue its involvement in human relations activities. We hope to eventually have a membership of 500, though the current objective is 300 members."

CITY was formed six years ago after a disturbance brought on by former students returning to the campus of Jefferson High School.

Since then CITY has concerned itself primarily with educational, housing and employment problems in the Daly City area.

A New Machine To Analyze Blood

A remarkable new blood analyzing machine, capable of performing 12 different tests at once, has been installed at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City.

The SMA (sequential multiple analyzer) requires only a "thimbleful" of serum and completes the tests in sixty seconds.

The multi-phasic screening system is now a part of routine admitting at the hospital.

Regarded as another breakthrough in the hospital's goal of offering preventive medicine — a vital segment of comprehensive medical care today — the new service is also available on an outpatient basis for all residents of the North County, according to Dr. Paul N. E. Neagle, chairman of the hospital's pathology department.

The 12 tests which can be made by the "AutoAnalyzer" are(LDH, uric acid, cholesterol, carbon dioxide, total protein, albumin, urea, glucose, calcium, bilirubin, alkaline phosphatase and glutamic okalacetic transaminase.

Cost of the tests, conducted one at time, would exceed $85, while the new machine can perform the same procedure for as little as $1 per test, Dr. Neagle said.

MARSHALL BLOSS, president of Peninsula Auto Center, in San Bruno, displays the trophy awarded to the auto center during the Independent Garage Owners of America convention in New Orleans June 26-July 2. Some 500 persons attended the convention, representing the 4,000 IGO membership. The second place nation-wide trophy was awarded for high points in improvements in shop appearance, customer relations, advertising and equipment.

Builder Charged With Tax Evasion

A federal grand jury on July 16th indicted real estate developer Carl Gellert on three counts of income tax evasion.

A similar complaint, which led to the investigation of the Golden Gate Advertising Company, filed against Fred Gellert, was dropped.

The Golden Gate Advertising Company, owned by the Gellerts, was charged with fraudulently deducting some $25,708 in political contributions as business expenses on tax returns.

Chief Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard Urban and Internal Revenue agents refused to identify the recipients of the alleged "contributions."

The Gellerts own Standard Building Company—developers of the $200 million Serramonte housing project in Daly City.

Although the evidence "did not justify" indicting Fred Gellert, Urban pointed out, Golden Gate Advertising Company secretary-treasurer Peter J. Brusati of San Mateo was included in the incictments returned "for aiding and assisting in the preparation of false returns."

Specifically, the Interal Revenue Service is concerned with the years 1962-63-64, a spokesman said.

U.S. Dist. Judge Caleb R. Layton III issued a summons for Carl Gellert and Brusati to appear for arraignment August 6.

Siren Test For County

Civil Defense sirens will be tested throughout San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties at 11 a.m. Friday. These sirens are part of nation-wide warning system.

According to Area Civil Defense Coordinator James V. Fitzgerald the test will consist of a one minute steady blast followed after a period of silence by a one minute wavering blast.

If sirens are used in real emergency situations, blast would be from three to five minutes in length.

A steady blast is the alert signal and is used to warn of an impending non-war caused emergency such as pontential tidal wave or flooding danger.

A waver blast is the attack warning signal and would indicate that an enemy attack upon the country had been detected.

Supervisor Fitzgerald urges all residents to have a plan of action in mind for each of the various emergency situations which might arise in their area.

BALBOA GRAD

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Steven D. Cann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther M. Cann, 31 Oakridge Drive, Daly City, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., for training in the flight training equipment field. Airman Cann, a graduate of Balboa High School, San Francisco, attended the College of San Mateo.

Scouts Visit Island

Westlake Cub Scout Pack 248 visited the Naval Base Treasure Island July 16. Fifty-three boys with eleven adults arrived at the island in the early morning for a guided tour of the installation.

One of the high points of the morning was a visit aboard the destroyer U.S.S. Twining. iDvided into four groups, the boys covered the Twining from stem to stern. Navy ingenuity prevailed, however, as she was still afloat after the Cub onslaught.

The Scouts also visited the Navy Mess Hall.

Through special arrangement made by Mrs. William Schoepp, the boys topped off their day with a boat ride. A motor launch took the group around the island.

Signup Deadline

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (D-SSF) has reminded potential San Mateo County students that applications to attend Skyline College are still being accepted, but that the deadline date is Friday, August 1, 1969.

Ryan, who was instrumental in obtaining an "urgency" appropriation bill to open the county's newest college said that, "San Mateo County residents and high school graduates can enroll by phoning the college Monday through Friday from 8:30 to 4:20 or by writing to the Dean of Admissions-Registration, Skyline Drive, San Bruno, 94066."

A Columbus Day Fete Is Planned

At a recent meeting of the Italian - American Federation of San Mateo County President William B. Addiego named Frank Maurana, general chairman of the 1969 Columbus Day Celebration. Named to serve with Chairman Maurana were: Florence Imbornone, assistant chairman; Paul Malignaggi, program book; Judy Grosey, queen contest and publicity; Arlene Nunziati, publicity; Esther Merlo, coronation Pageant; Louis Siracusa, banquet; Gina Marcon and Angie Lubrano, decorations; Joseph Della Chiesa, landing of Columbus; special assistants are Rosina and Joseph Quilici, Mary Soletti, Carmella Bortolin, Inez Mazza, James Viano, Mary Guerra, and Tom Imbornone.

Caesar Lencioni of South San Francisco will portray Columbus during the two-day celebration which will be held October 11 and 12. The celebration will be highlighted with the Queen Isabella Coronation Banquet and Ball on Saturday, October 11 and the Landing of Columbus at Coyote Point Yacht Harbor on Sunday, October 12.

ARTY CONTEST — Youngsters from (top photo, right) a Jeff High District Summer School art class at Oceana put their talents to work for — as our photographer Donna Starr put it — "an application of 'involvement' in design and craftsmanship in action." In other words they whipped up these neat kites and flew 'em about over the countryside last Wednesday. "The Idea," Mrs. Starr relayed, "was to take art out of stuffy classrooms and give it a real breath of fresh air!" at right, Cindy Leo (Jeff High helps Gary Sandino (Terra Nova) repair little box kite "wounded" in preflight test, as Mike Parker (Westmoor) consoles.

S.S.F. Cub Backyard Cook-out

The Webelos Dens of South San Francisco Club Scout Pack 296 recently held an overnight camp cookout in the backyard of Webelos Leader George Chrestionson. Helping with the arrangements was Assistant Webelos Leader Jerry Segalas.

The boys pitched their own pup tents and helped prepare their evening meal. Much was learned in how to tie a tent with local wind providing on-the-spot training.

During the early evening hours much time was spent playing games, tugs of war, knot tying, community singing, and relay races.

Boys participating included Steven Kennedy, Joe Baca, Tim Herbert, Joe Schemrig, Jim Campbell, Keith Chrestionson, Jerry Segalas, Tony Palladino, Mark Grgich and Bryn Evans.

Sunshine Gardens Women's Club Has A New President

New officers of the Sunshine Gardens Women's Club of South San Francisco, recently were installed during a dinner at Lyle's Restaurant. Mrs. Albert Gordon was the installing officer.

Those taking office included Mesdames August Graziano, president; Richard Arlie, vice president; Robert Roofner, treasurer; Ray Martinez, corresponding secretary, and Joseph Calia, recording secretary.

Chairmen will be Mesdames Joe Osuna, ways and means; Herman Katz, scholarship; Harry Smith, roll call; Robert Clement, hospitality; Fred Matas, sunshine; Thomas Turley, social; Carl Laslovich, decorations; Anthony Della, membership; Howard Craig, publicity; Joseph Alonson, prizes; Albert Gordon, parliamentarian, and Antonio Cuneo, past president.

Sea Bees Aid S.S.F. Boys

The South San Francisco Boys' Club was invaded recently by 45 members of the Twelfth Naval District of the Sea Bees Reserves. "They were a most welcome group," stated Tom Sauer, executive director of the Boys' Club." Sauer also further stated, "The Sea Bees were here to perform one of their many public service projects which includes helping Boy Scouts, handicapped children, and many other public service agencies."

Under the direction of Lt. Cmdr. Harry Rodda and Lt. Rick Walter, executive officer, both from the Hunter's Point unit, the Sea Bees completed five projects inside the Boys' Club building and started work on the Boys' Club new addition, a storage room and garage.

Lt. Walter reported, "These men come from as far away as Salt Lake City, Utah, and Nevada, as well as local units from Alameda, Sacramento and Hunters Point. Many of the men have served their two years of active duty while others will be leaving soon for overseas assignments." All the men enjoyed applying their many skills to worthwhile projects such as the South San Francisco Boys' Club.

The Boys' Club now in its eighth year of operation is currently serving a membership of 1,550 boys.

Mrs. Matias Heads Unit

The newly formed Pacifica auxiliary to the Children's Home Society of California met recently to elect officers and discuss future projects. President of the group will be Mrs. Linda Matias, Mrs. Jo Linhares, secretary; Mrs. Marge Baumgartner, treasurer; Mrs. Betty Sloane, publicity chairman.

A nonprofit organization, Children's Home Society of California is the nation's largest voluntarily suported adoption agency. Since its founding 1891, the Society has placed more than 30,000 children of all races and faiths.

The Pacifica auxiliary will concentrate on fund-raising and informational activities.

Marian Council Names Haug Grand Knight

Marian Council No. 3773, Knights of Columbus, recently elected officers of the council and Grand Knight John Richardson officially turned over the gavel on July 1 to James Haug.

The new roster of officers:

Grand Knight, James Haug, Pacifica; Deputy Grand Knight, Glenn Allen, Cupertino; Chancellor, Tom Curr, Daly City; Warden, Pat Smith, San Francisco;

Recorder, Ed Oliva, Daly City; Inside Guards, Al Abrahamson, Daly City, Paul Azevedo, Pacifica; Outside Guard, Joe Cumina, Colma; Advocate, Joe Capurro, Daly City; Financial Secty., Rogert Simon, Daly City; Treasurer, Ray Tachirgi, Daly City; Chaplain, Fr. Peter Kelly, Pacifica;

Trustees: Lifetime, Gene Graziani, Daly City; three Year, John Richardson, Martinez; Two Year, Frank Teeter, San Francisco; One Year, Robert Hale, Pacifica.

Frances Daly Heads D.C. Legion Unit

Frances C. Daly will be installed for the second year as president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Daly City Unit 410, on Thursday evening.

Under the leadership last year the following were received at the department convention in San Diego; two citations for reaching membership quota early to the membership chairman, Rose Giorri; a certificate of recognition for the hospitalized veterans, rian, Anne Welsh; honorable mention to education and scholarship chairman, Anni Powers; and Frances Daly, president, a gold charm for an essay on "Human Rights in Malaysia."

The unit this year will continue to participate in parties for the hospitalized beterans, distribute gift baskets to the needy, sponsor girls to girls' state and work with the post to make this coming year even more outstanding than the last.

Cookbook Ideas Asked By Auxiliary

The Catholic Social Service Auxiliary of San Mateo County is preparing a cook book to contain more than 250 of the member's favorite recipes. According to Mrs. Charles Miller, cook book chairman, the cover will be an original design by one of the members and will be printed in time for holiday giving. Besides the recipes, the book will contain selected up-to-date basic cooking information.

All members have been invited to send one to three favorite recipes from different food categories to Mrs. Miller, 547 Vannier Drive, Belmont 94002. One will be selected by the committee to be printed in the book.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS . . .

By Alice Reichert

Pacifica needs trouble-makers as much as it needs more rain and fog this summer.

Our town has enough trouble on it's own with normal business and activities. But the rock concert at the beach sponsored by the Park Beach and Recreation Department Sunday brought to Pacifica more trouble and trouble-makers than, obviously, it could handle. Linda Mar teens, for once in a lifetime, were seriously seeking official protection; and also for once in a lifetime, there wasn't a police officer to be found.

Since Linda Mar's riots last summer, the police force in Pacifica has grown and made itself obvious. There isn't a street in Linda Mar that isn't patrolled by official cars at least every 15 minutes. And on week-ends, drivers see at least two or three in that period of time. The shopping center is constantly cruised, and many teens groups are broken up excepting at dances or the Wander Inn. Pacifica police must be congratulated for their outstanding fight against loitering, curfew violation, and other similiar petty charges held against teens of the area.

But where were our faithful policemen a week ago Sunday, when the guidance and protection of the force was most needed? Although PB&R leader Verdeckburg was largely responsible for not reporting difficulties at the public beach party, officers cannot claim they knew nothing of the incidents.

Policemen were at the scene, even for so little a time as to warn teens about little hassles they witnessed. They were also consicious of the presence of The Hell's Angels; this alone would be reason to keep a watchful eye on the day's activities. Several policemen were also collecting passed out teens off the beach, bringing them home to explain that they had had too much to drink.

You can be sure that if the Angels weren't at the beach, these same teens who were taken home drunk or sick would have been arrested and booked for that reason. But the police knew, as the teens did, that it was the Hell's Angels who were so generously sharing their wine, and that the teens would not have been drinking it if the police had been there then, as they always are when it's just teens of the area. Perhaps they were trying to give Linda Mar kids enough rope to hang themselves with, but that's no game to play with Hell's Angels there as "supposed cronies."

One girl who was beaten so badly Verdeckburg and several teens supposed she was dead, was taken home by police, who explained to her parents that she had had too much to drink. No one asked for explanations or offered any help concerning the many bruised faces leaving the beach.

In our opinion, policemen are hired, not only to persecute, but to protect. It's nice to know that we are safe from loitering teen-agers and curfew violators; but who is being helped in these charges, and who is being harmed, except the teen who holds the records for even so slight a violation? Kids who passed out from too much wine or heavy blows administered during the fracas with Angels might very well have been dead, considering how badly many of them were treated. What would our police force be doing now? And who would the object of their revenge be if there had been a death? We know our police can hassle, but can they help? And not only can they, but will they?

Obviously, our police are not blind, becuase they can spot a Ripple bottle (wine) in a teen's hand from across the valley. But they quite conveniently closed their eyes to the trouble on the ebach Sunday; how else could they have apparently missed these incidents right off the Cabrillo Highway?

Pacifica teens know they need the protection of law enforcement officers, for there are many times that they are the ones in danger. Is it possible our police pick and choose who gets protection and who doesn't?

Louanne Heath

For the second consecutive year a member of the Tanchoco family has been named to the list of oustanding graduates from Jefferson High school. Gloria, 18, joins her sister, Adoracion, in the ranks of those who have studied well and served their school with distinction.

Gloria, who is the next to youngest of the five children of Mrs. Angelita Tanchoco, was born in Malabon Rizal, the Philippines and, after coming to the United States, attended St. Boniface and Raphael Weill schools in San Francisco before moving to Daly City five years ago. In the local district she attended Benjamn Franklin school before starting her four years in Jefferson.

Being an outgoing and interested type of person, Gloria became concerned with individuals as well as in class activities and her ability to communicate with people lead her to discover "you can't alway tell what is inside a book by looking at the cover."

"I learned while in high school not to judge a person by his looks. Some of the people I didn't approve of, just by looks, turned out to be some of the nicest ones I know. I learned to understand people more and I like to help them whenever I can," Gloria said.

Her desire to be helpful lead her to seek the presidency of the senior class and her election was one of the events she considers a highlight of her school years.

"I was happy to be able to serve them as much as I could and as president I worked with the class officers and the class advisor to organize the class activities," she explained.

In addition to her class office Gloria was active in the Girls Atheltic Association, the California Scholarship Federation, the Executive Board, the Spanish club and she was vice president of the Filipino-American Club.

Her major area of interest was in business courses and she took classes in business education during all four years at Jefferson. Her fine scholastic record in that area lead to her being named the recipient of the school's nomination for the Bank of America Achievement. Awards program in the Vocational Arts. During the summer months she is working to help pay for her continued studies at the College of San Mateo or at Skyline College.

One of the most enjoyable experiences Gloria had was working in the school's counseling office but it was also a spot from which she observed a part of the tragedy involving many teenagers.

"I think the most difficult problem today is drugs. A lot of these teenagers have turned to drugs when they are in junior high school because it seems like everywhere you turn somone is bound to have them. This affects them (the teenagers) and especially their education.

"I know a lot of these students are smart but they don't realize the consequences which lie ahead. Sometimes it isn't drugs that cause problems, it is because they run around with the wrong crowd. When they realize how bad a start they're off to in school, it's too late.

"I saw a lot of this while I was working in the counseling office. The only thing they think about is to be with the "in thing" I just wish there were some ways to make them understand what they're doing wrong now before it's too late!" Gloria lamented.

Being out of high school will mean missing many friends. Gloria explained that she like all of her teachers and she had many, many friends among the members of the student body. Especially she will miss working in the office.

Elaine Florence Ludwig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Ludwig of Detroit, Mich., and Joel Barry Wine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wine of Daly City, will be married October 12 in Detroit. Elaine is an education major at Michigan State University from which her fiance was graduated in June. A graduate of Lick - Wilmerding High School, he studied hotel, restaurant and institution management in college.

A Garden Setting For Vow Exchange

The garden of the Burlingame home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Muetzenberg was the setting on Saturday for the marriage of their daughter, Linda, to Michael Kevin Ryan.

The Rev. Donald Fado officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony which was followed by a reception in the garden.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white eyelet gown with satin and organdy detailing and added a shoulder-length veil.

Raylene Perez was her sister's honor attendant and Lisa Muetzenberg, another sister, shared bridesmaids' duties with Kerry Ryan, sister of the bridegroom. The bride's two sisters wore pink organza and Michael's sister wore blue organza.

Linda is the granddaughter of Richard Belmont Wyatt, who was at the wedding. She attended Polytechnic High School in San Francisco and City College of San Francisco. Michael studied at Tennyson High School in Hayward and San Francisco State College.

The couple will live in San Bruno and will honeymoon belatedly in New York.

BARBARA BLADEN

'War and Peace'

The Russians have created a cinematic masterpiece with two part "War and Peace," now alternating the first and the second half each week at the Bridge Theatre. It is living history, authenticating to the most minute detail the social and moral character of 19th Century Russia.

Awesome in its scope, stunning in its beauty, thrilling in its magnitude, this version, is so far superior to our own treatment in 1956. I saw it at one sitting and was fascinated for every minute of the 6½ hours. The public is getting it in two parts during separate weeks, and I recommend seeing it in its entirety since the first half (1805-1811) focuses on the grandeur and extravagance of the aristocracy, luxuries of court life, the sumptuous banquets, gorgeous gowns, lavish mansions, and all the elegance that leisure time allows.

Part Two (1812-1813) concentrates on the sweeping panorama of battle with 120,000 Russian soldiers matched by an equal number of Napoleon's men, charging in straight file towards each other, scorching the earth behind them on the march to Moscow. Without the magnificence of the first half, the devastating waste effected in the second, loses much of its point.

What the Walter Reade production shows us is, not only a faithful recreation of Leo Tolstoy's classic novel, but a factual depiction of Russian life, ideals, custom, costume and logic. For one hundred million dollars (the most expensive movie ever made), they've duplicated every phase of 19th century life, altering even slight changes in uniforms, staging battles on their original sites and following the original plans as documented in Soviet museums.

ENGLISH DUBBING IS NEVER PERFECT, but considering the magnitude of the film, it is certainly preferable to reading hours of subtitles, thereby missing the more important visual magnificence. Unfortunately, the voices are all on one tone level, and the absence of Russian accent in most cases minimizes the flavor of the epic.

My only real criticism of the film is in the musical score which takes on a harsh quality, sometimes a scratchy metallic sound. And they've used silence most effectively, especially in the most dramatic battle sequences. Hundreds of thousands of men marching to sure-death without a sound from the screen.

The director has concentrated on the total horror of war, rather than individual death. Cannon fire, crippled horses, whole regiments bayoneted or shot while stoicly marching forward and the sense of duty and feeling of despair make up the holocaust of military carnage.

On top of the impeccable artistry and overwhelming climatic beauty, there is the topflight cast of famous Russian actors and actresses. Sergei Bondarchuk, director and co-author of the screenplay, portrays the leader narrator, central figure of Pierre Bezuhov. Sometimes we see the action through his eyes, as the invasion of Moscow, the seige of Schoengraben, Austerlitz and Borodino, compassionate treatment of the French soldiers beaten ultimately by the bitter Russian winter. He philosophizes on the meaning of war, contemplating the influences of wealth and power and pondering life and death from a personal view. Much of Tolstoy's writing is condensed in his dialogue.

BONDARCHUK'S REAL LIFE WIFE IRINA SKOBTSEVA plays his movie wife, Helene, and their early courtship affords the first of only two comic touches in the entire film. The second laugh is spirited by Napoleon's general who can't understand why all the Russian women fled the city upon their arrival, saying "in other countries they learned to love us."

The only inexperienced performer, in a stunning lineup of professionals, is the Leningrad ballerina Ludmila Savelyeva, who plays Natasha. She's young and lovely and embodies the free spirit and passionate emotions of the Countess, loved by many and married by none.

Vyacheslav Tihonov is the enigmatic Andrei Bolkonsky who is prominent through both halves of the movie. He tends to be wooden and unemotional, but is a fine figure of a man.

It might seem useless to reprint all the Russian names, but believe me, you'll never forget their faces after seeing the film. Each character is a gem in the over-all setting of this incomparable achievement.

Scale Model of Bay Is Focal Point For Fiesta Flower Show

They're filling in the Bay at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds.

But it's a matter of putting in water, not adding shoreline till. And the "Bay" is really a scale model 38 feet long and 30 feet wide, focal point in the giant Hall of Flowers for the thirty-fifth annual Fair and Floral Fiesta July 28-August 9.

Fair Designer Richard Murray of Carmel (he's a landscape architect and urban planner) has created the bay in exact proportions to simulate how it would have looked 200 years ago when Capt. Gaspar de Portola first saw it.

The design ties in with the Fair theme this year, "It's a Bicentennial Fair," celebrating the 200th anniversary of the initial settlement of the state in 1769.

Both inside and outside the hall will be professional and amateur garden exhibits covering the better part of two acres.

Fairgoers entering the hall will be confronted by a "hill" of green—ferns, maples, indoor palms, vermilliads and orchids. A large waterfall will tumble down its face.

Visitors will ascend a ramp path up the hill, bordered on all sides by verdant gardens, and upon topping the crest of "Sweeney Ridge" (from which Portola first looked out on the Bay) look down on the water-filled replica.

Clustered around the Bay model will be exhibits by retail florists, with vignettes of San Francisco Bay Area scenes over the past 200 years.

From a viewing platform atop the "ridge," fairgoers can look toward the end of the 300-foot-long building and see a pair of California missions — surrounded with the rich colors of dahlias. Designed by Murray, the mission facades are 36 feet long and 26 feet high.

At the very end of the hall in a far corner will be an East Bay Nursery exhibit on the slopes of a miniature Mt. Diablo.

Commenting on the theme of the fair and the designs and individual displays which support it, Fair Board Director Mrs. Edwin Walter, amateur chairman, and William Enomoto, professional chairman, said:

"The extraordinary history of California over the past two centuries is not one just of physical progress in such areas as industry and urban growth. It is also one of cultural achievement leading to the "good life" enjoyed in California, as typified in San Mateo County at our Floral Fiesta."

Our Redeemer's Program Change

Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church of South San Francisco this week announced a change in its Sunday morning worship schedule.

Beginning July 20 and continuing until September 21 there will be one worship service, at 9:30 a.m., each Sunday. (The previous schedule offered two services, at 8:30 and 11:00.)

Nursery service is provided at the 9:30 service. A coffee hour will follow worship each Sunday n the church patio.

Damien House Plan Scrapped

Sponsors of the Damien House "drop-in center for youths" project in South San Francisco have announced that they will abandon efforts to obtain permission to operate the facility at 233 Willow Avenue.

Rudie Tretten, chairman of the North County Steering Committee for Damien House, said members of his organization have decided not to appeal the South San Francisco Planning Commission's decision to deny an application for a use permit to operate the facility.

Commissioners voted unanimously to deny the use permit Monday after scores of residents protested the project at a public hearing, and petitions bearing the signatures of nearly 1,000 residents opposed to the use permit were submitted.

"We have no desire to disrupt the public life of South San Francisco, nor do we value controversy for the sake of controversy," Tretten said today.

"Our decision not to appeal is made, we feel, with the best interests of the city and the youth of the city in mind.

"We do not intend, however, to cease our efforts at establishing a North County drop-in center for young people," he said. "Our committee will continue its efforts to find suitable housing and to educate the public and public officials."

Tretten, an administrator at Daly City's Jefferson High School, said he feels the public should be "made more aware and concerned over the fact that one out of every three Americans today is, under the age of 15."

"It has been gratifying that so many people have offered us support," he said. "Many who were opposed to our location on Willow Avenue were opposed not to a drop-in center, but to a drop-in center at that particular site.

"In fact, at least one of the petitions stated that the signers did not disapprove of the goals or motives of Damien House."

Tretten said members of his committee will hold a series of "coffee klatches" during the next several weeks "in order to more adequately inform the citizenry."

He also said the Damien House sponsors will continue to seek a location for the facility, either another site in South San Francisco, or a location in another North County city.

Chamber Pushes For New Bridge

San Bruno Chamber of Commerce President Harold H. Highsmith asked the California Toll Bridge Authority "to expedite matters concerning the construction of the Southern Crossing of the San Francisco Bay."

The California Toll Bridge Authority will meet Wednesday afternoon in Sacramento to consider the proposed design of the high level portion of the Southern Crossing.

The location of a second bay bridge has been in controversy for over 15 years. Two years ago the authority decided on a location of the bridge terminus. Now another controversy surrounds the high level design: Should it be diamond-shaped towers or a tied-arch span?

Highsmith said the San Bruno area needs the second bay bridge now.

"Statistics are fine, but a ride on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge in the morning will dramatically illustrate that we need a second bridge as soon as possible," he said. "It is murder riding on that bridge today."

San Bruno calls itself "The Airport City." Highsmith contends that the city will become the transportation hub with the completion of the Junipero Serra Freeway and Route 186.

"Considering the expansion of the San Francisco International Airport to accommodate more air passengers and the use of jumbo jets, this means more motor vehicles on the road," the San Bruno Chamber president argues. "We will choke to death in traffic."

Highsmith believes rapid transit to the airport, as proposed by San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas, is a partial solution, but the "second bay bridge is a necessity."

Cantor Epstein Speaker

Cantor Herbert I. Epstein will continue his two-part series on "The Unconventional from the Convention, Part II" at Sabbath Eve Worship Services at Peninsula Temple Beth El, San Mateo, August 1 at 8:30 p.m.

Services will be conducted by Rabbi Sanford E. Rosen and Cantor Epstein, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Holtzberg who will offer the Kiddush and Candlelighting, and Mr. Joel Zneimer and Mr. Charles Harband who will offer the Torah Blessings.

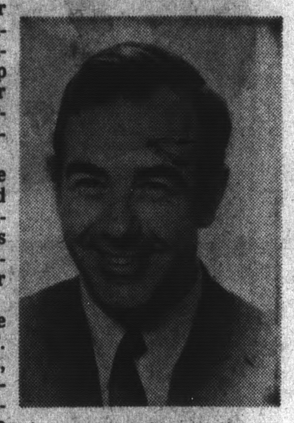
Cantor Epstein will present his program in the Fireside Room immediately following the worship, demonstrating some of the music that he heard at the recent American Conference of Cantor's Convention in New York City from which he returned last week. Oneg Shabbat social hour will follow his presentation.

Young GOP For Damien

The North County Young Republicans passed two very unrelated resolutions at their July meeting. The first was to oppose the senate bill passed two weeks ago, which makes it illegal to advertise cigarettes in the state of California. "This is blatant censorship; we are going to write assemlymen, and hope that it stops there," said YR Chairman Dick Geno.

The second resloution passed was to support the existence of the Damien House in South San Francisco. Larry Simmons, of Damien House, explained to the YR's that the Damien House is designed to work in conjunction with various established community services in order to promote a better means of human communication and greater understanding of self and others. "Through group experiences, individual expression, we have demonstrated positive effectiveness in working with schools, probation, churches, runaways, families, drug users and self referrals," Simmons said.

Church Choir Will Conduct Sunday Services



Ken Gillespie

The Adult Choir of Broadmoor Presbyterian Church will conduct the service Sunday morning at 10. Under the leadership of Carl Eagle, choir director and organist, the choir will participate in all phases of the worship program.

Eagle recently assumed the dual role of choir director and organist, following the relinquishing of the choir director's position by David Frankeberger, who left the church to enter the Air Force.

In the vacation absence of the minister, the Rev. Herbert C. Tweedie, the pastor assistant, the Rev. Aaron Miller, and leaders of various church departments have been conducting the services.

Each year for over 10 years the choir has presented what has become known as Choir Sunday, with as many choir members as possible participating in the regular order of worship. According to choir president Gregory Lum, "The choir is honored to be called upon to lead in the minister's vacation time, and to present from the choir loft, the lectern, and the pulpit those sections of the service which we feel can be best expressed by the individuals selected."

Three anthems will be sung on Choir Sunday, a service largely devoted to music and its place as a worship medium. Included are "With a Voice of Singing," presented as the Introit, "Break Forth Into Joy," following the scripture lesson, and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," a musical benediction. Lead soprano Kay Mattson will sing "Let Thy Holy Presence" as an offertory.

The responsive reading will be the 100th Psalm, lead by bass James Tweedie, followed by the hymnal version of the same Psalm, "All People Who on Earth Do Dwell," known in the hymn book as "Old 100th."

Kathy Leech, soprano, will read the scripture, while the invocation, and invitation to the Lord's Prayer will be delivered by bass Lou Hahn. Greg Lum will give the offertory prayer as male members of the choir come down from the choir loft to take the offering for the first time.

The morning message is entitled, "Ho, Hymn, or Ho-Hum," and will be delivered by tenor Ken Gillespie. Commenting on the meaning of music as an aid to worship, and with congregational participation in singing portions of several hymns for emphasis and interpretation, Gillespie will conclude a worship service that will be nearly all musical in spirit and presentation.

The Rev. Mr. Tweedie will return to his pulpit August 3, following a vacation trip and a two-week advance seminar at the Princeton Theological Seminary. Newcomers are cordially invited to attend the Choir Sunday program, followed by a friendly coffee time. Full child care and Sunday school is provided during the worship service.

Sandal Maker Caught After Chase in S.S.F.

A Southern California sandal maker was captured Sunday after a wild chase through residential areas of South San Francisco.

Booked at county jail in Redwood City on charges of auto theft, reckless driving, driving without a license and possession of marijuana and dangerous drugs was Robert A. Lisenby, 20, of Encino.

Highway Patrolman Eldon C. Brownell said the chase started at 8:30 a.m. when he saw three speeding cars come onto Bayshore Freeway from International Airport and head north. It turned out that two of the cars were driven by Hertz empolyes who said they had seen Lisenby jump in a rental car and take off from the Hertz parking lot at the airport.

Lisenby turned off at Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco, the officer reported, then raced through the city streets at speeds up to 65 miles an hour, running through three red lights and seven stop signs in the process.

At Magnolia and Orange Avenues the stolen rental sedan struck the rear of a car driven by Carol Lynn Reback, 986 Brusco Street, South San Francisco, and at Miller and Eucalyptus Avenues the auto spun out of control and crashed into the side of a house.

Brownell said Kisenby jumped out and ran but was caught as he was attempting to climb a fence.

New Mayfair Market Opening

Robert F. De Weese, vice president and regional manager for the 250-store Mayfair Markets, today announced plans for the construction of a new unit in the Bay Area.

The 20,000 square-foot unit will be in Los Gatos at the corner of Harwood and Blossom Hill Roads. It will be a part of a new 50,000 square-foot shopping center. The new Mayfair is scheduled for a late 1969 opening.

Man Is Hurt In Daly City Car Accident

A Jefferson Union High School driving student learned his first lesson in defensive driving last week when a car swerved across the center line and smashed headon into his vehicle.

Seriously injured in the two-car collision last Tuesday was Mieczyslaw Kowalski, 50, of 114 Belcrest, Daly City.

He remained in serious condition today at Mary's Help Hospital, a spokesman said.

Police said Kowalski was driving a small foreign compact car southbound on Junipero Serra Boulevard Tuesday morning about 9:30 a.m. when he crossed the center line and smashed headon into a student driver's car driven by 15-year-old Armando Rangole of 98 Second Avenue, Daly City.

Rangoli suffered minor injuries, however two passengers—instructor Edwin M. Johnson, and student Ramono Soldonia, 16, of 122 Willits Avenue, Daly City — escaped injury.

B'nai Israel Sabbath Plans

Sabbath services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel July 25 at 8:30 p.m. During the absence of Rabbi Solomon A. Shore, who is on vacation, services are conducted by Cantor Henry Greenberg and Irving Podolsky, chairman of the Religious Committee.

Birthday Sabbath will be observed on that evening when those children of the Sunday school born during the month of July will be honored. To be called to the pulpit for a blessing and gift are Bette Ehrlich, Kenneth Frucht, Eduardo Heckscher, Alan Mordokowicz, Nancy Mutnick, Michele Rose, Susan Rose, Steven Ross, and Audrey Tiefenthal.

The children will be further honored at the Oney Sabbat (social hour) immediately following the services.

Coil Still Doing Well

Marty Coil, Terra Nova's contribution to the Giants, continues to do well for Amarillo of the Class AA Texas League. Being used mostly as a pinch-hitter and utility man, latest statistics show that he's appeared in 39 games (of a possible 81), is hitting .287 with 27 for 94, has scored four runs, 37 total bases, five doubles, a triple, a homer, 13 RBIs, six sacrifice flies, and you get an idea of how close the Giant front office keeps a tab on its youngsters, who many fans have the idea get lost in the minors. The above figures were ascertained from Giant farm secretary Jack Schwarz literally seconds after we phoned to ask how Coil was doing. Schwarz indeed did have the most possible up-to-date figures at his fingertip. So don't ever let anyone tell you that big league organizations don't know what their lambs are doing at all times.

Schwarz said, in fact, that he had just gotten a call from Amarillo manager Andy Gilbert, who said that Coil's a good man to have on a ball club. Gilbert likes Marty's attitude. Says Coil likes to play but doesn't complain about not playing more, is willing to play any position, had a good personality, helps keep the club loose and hustling.

"Gilbert must be impressed," says Schwarz. "He very seldom says anything like that. He's had all the good ones up here at one time or another, and he hasn't volunteered praise like that."

Schwarz dismissed the theory among some fans that if a player Marty's age (about 22-23) with little minor league experience because of college hasn't made the Biggies by now, he can no longer be considered a prospect.

"That may be true," said Schwarz, "if he was still at say a class A or B level, or lower, but not at the level he's playing. If you can survive that level, who knows? Coil has a lot of power.

"It's true that college may have prevented him from picking up four years of minor league experience and that maybe if he had signed out of high school he'd be playing AAA by now. But there's no way of knowing that.

"That attitude about having to make it quick, in your early 20s, is a typical college attitude. A lot of them would rather get jobs as computer programmers than gamble on themselves. They have all the answers, and as a result a lot of them never really give themselves a chance. Some athletes develop late, some have become stars in their late 20s.

"These fellas, when they reach the level of AA, it's just a matter of having a good year. One big year and then everybody starts noticing them, despite all of the self-serving proclamations by scouts and other baseball people who said that 'didn't have it.' Scouts can't go beyond what they actually see. This business of everybody walking around with a crystal ball . . . my own experience is, it doesn't exist. You'll get kids that scouts will say is no prospect, and then all of a sudden something happens; they start whacking the ball all over the lot and their fielding improves, and they start thinking about how to play this game, and then at the end of the year, everybody's after them. Everybody's discovered them, then."

Speaking of the minor leagues, San Mateo resident Bill Werle managed Stockton to the first half pennant of the California League.

True-blue fans remember Werle as the clever southpaw who hurled for the pre- and post-war San Francisco Seals, and then went up to Pittsburgh, where in his rookie year of 1949 he won 12 games with a miserable team. For some reason Bill was used mostly in relief thereafter, and with that inept team which has become the butt of so many jokes by Joe Garagiola, never could make a good record for himself. He stayed in the majors until '54, finishing with the Red Sox after a brief stay at St. Louis. It was said that St. Louis picked him up for part of that '52 season just so Stan Musial wouldn't have to bat against him. Werle's one real distinction was that he could get Musial only by stepping on the pitching rubber. Some, in fact, said that the only thing that kept him in the majors was his ability to get Musial out. But that was an exaggeration. Werle was a good pitcher against a lot of batters. In those days before expansion it took more than mastery over one hitter to last six years.

Going back to the conversation with Schwarz, Werle is one of those players who made it to the majors relatively late in his baseball life. A University of California graduate, he lost four years of lower minor league experience, lost a year because of the war, but kept plugging and finally made it to the Biggies at age 29. Six years was better than programming computers.

We don't mean to bore you with discussions of hitting versus pitching each week, so if you're bored, skip this next item. All it really is, is a comment by Bob Feller, via a Joe Falls column, on why pitching will always be ahead of hitting.

"It's a lot easier to learn to pitch," said Feller, "than it is to hit. All you need to pitch are two guys — somebody to throw the ball and somebody to catch it. But to hit you've got to have a field and somebody to pitch to you and somebody to chase the ball."

One of our readers (which makes it about a 50 per cent response) complained about our small rib of Al Helfer's last column. The reader claims that Monte Moore is at least as guilty of whatever it is they're guilty of as Helfer, and should be given equal time.

Well, we always aim to please, and the following is the best we could come up with on short notice:

Moore noted before a game that Seattle's Gene Brabender was a fine prospect, the only chink in his armor being poor control.

After Brabender went several innings of throwing virtually nothing but strikes, Moore announced in his best tone of objectivity:

"Boy, I'll tell ya one thing about this big boy Brabender, he's a control pitcher."

And in that same game, Moore reported that Oakland second baseman Dick Green hit a home run on a fast ball.

The very next time up, Green looked at the first p'tch, a curve ball. To which Moore replied, "Boy, I'll tell ya, fans, Green hasn't seen a fast ball all night since he hit that homer!"

Will that hold ya for a while, fan?

TAG ENDS: What do Altoona, Buffalo, Elizabeth, Fort Wayne, Hartford, Indianapolis, Keokuk, Louisville, Middletown, Newark, New Haven, Providence, Richmond, Rockfort, Rochester, Syracuse, Toledo, Troy, Wilmington and Worcester have in common?

They all once had major league baseball teams.

If you're still trying to postulate on what will be the most enduring major league record we have the answer for you: Hoyt Wilhelm's mark for pitching appearances in major league games, which went past Cy Young's a while back, is well into the 800s, and no end in sight.

RESULTS OF THE Sand Dune Buggy Assoc. of California, Inc., Auto Cross event, held at Westlake Shopping Center during recent Sand Dune Buggy Show, have been reversed since announcement of the finishers, the winner having been disqualified and first place claimed by Rick Liberto of Pacifica. Liberto is shown with Kathy Cassirno. It had been published that Beau Hickory, South San Francisco, placed first in the Auto Cross (obstacle run) with an elapsed time of 1:29.5. However, since Hickory was instrumental in setting up the obstacle course for the event, he was disqualified and Liberto named the winner. Liberto's Auto Cross time was 1:30 even. He and his son, Phillip, drove a '69 Volkswagen Kit Car with a '69—53 h.p. engine. Second place went to Mike Valana of San Bruno. (Post Photo)

'Hot and Heavy' Bass Run Action

Pacifica's Bass Derby, which is a little over a week old, and will continue for eight more weeks, continues to provide hot and heavy action for the thousands of fishermen who are clogging the beaches of Pacifica.

The Bass runs are a daily occurrance now, and the best action seems to be when the tide is approaching the high mark or in the evening, when great flocks of birds point the way to the schools of feeding bass.

Several anglers are taking home the prizes in the Pacifica Jaycees' Bass Derby. Top prize for last week went to Charles Range of Redwood City who skillfully landed a forty-six pounder. In his limit of that day, Charles also caught a twenty-three pounder and a thirty-seven pound bass.

Daily prizes which are drawn from the fish entered in the derby, go to: Rodney Overstreet, Pacifica; Thomas Hall, Pacifica; Earl Sorg, Pacifica; Thomas Clark, Pacifica; Richard Murphy, San Francisco; Gilbert Clayton, Pacifica; Terry Walling, San Francisco; Michael Walding, Pacifica; Boyd Hillyer, Pacifica; and to Ed Martinelli, also of Pacifica.

Though the Pacificans seem to be taking their share of the bass, you don't have to live there to join in the fun. The secret is to be in the right place at the right time.

A novelty prize in the derby this year is the "Blind Bogey" prize.

The exact weight of all bass entered in the derby will be compared to the weight of a bass caught by one of the Pacifica Jaycees and secreted in a frozen foods locker in town. The fisherman who enters the closest bass, in weight, to the blind bogey will win a fifty dollar U.S. savings bond.

Signups For Bowling Set

The Daly City Recreation Department is now taking signups for its annual Summer Fun Bowling Program, for children between eight and 12 years of age. The program is cosponsored by the Swanson Westlake Bowl, and begins August 5 and runs through August 29.

Signups will be taken at the various playgrounds throughout the City. (Playgrounds are open Mondays 10 a.m.-4 p.m., and Tuesdays through Fridays 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.).

Deadline for signups is July 25. There is no charge for this program, but parents will be responsible for transporting their children to and from the Bowl. Two sessions will be offered: Tuesdays and Thursdays, starting August 5; and Wednesdays and Fridays, starting August 6.

Post Sports

Westlake Bowl

Wayne Chester, Westlake's world record-holding junior bowler, did it again, shooting 1033 for four games, which is believed to be a world's record for juniors.

Rolling on Sunday afternoon in a make-up match for a Saturday morning league, Wayne shot games of 258-254-242-279 for his 1033 total. Wayne was bowling on lanes43-4 and some of his statistics were amazing. During one period he spared the first two games, then had 12 strikes in a row in one game.

In his last game only a 3 pin in the fourth frame stood between Wayne and perfection. All told he had 38 strikes in four games and he shot at only 7 spares.

Since junior records are usually recorded for three games only it is not known for certain if the 1033 total is a record for Wayne, but it was certainly another great performance by the lefthander coming only a few months after he set the three-game record with an 847 total.

Led by Melanie Coyle with a 315 series (and 62 pins over her average) the Westlake Queens moved into contention for awards yesterday at King's Bowl. Every girl rolled over her average; Nancy Nichols, Janice Dividian and Captain Elaine Guthrie but most of all Pam Nelson with a 100 average, rolled 96 pins over with her 396 series. The tournament has 4 weeks to go but we're hoping for many awards with Westlake's 20 teams.

The annual Westlake Bowl Family Picnic has been scheduled for September 7 at Blackberry Farm. As in past years, there will be a Westlake section for picnic lunch, games, softball game, etc. In order to qualify for reduced rates, it is necessary to purchase tickets in advance at the Bowl. Tickets and additional information will be available at the Bowl desk.

Bowlers of the week were: Twilight Mixed 5's: Al Koskela 221-520, Carol Gill 145-395; 540 Scratch Trio - Tom Brelle 234—847; Northgate Mixed 5's—Bill Rodriguez 224-624, Joe Moeller 218-630, Lorraine Moeller 177-474; Ball and Chain Mixed 5's - Dave Campbell 189-541, Betty Bedarreo 199-479; Fireman's Fund Insurance - Dick Rost 202-511, Sally Watts 177-481; Skyline Trio - Gerry Peluya 191-562; Stonestown Merchants - Paul Reyes 230-595, Jim McMillian 154-460; Ladies' Invitational Trio - Helen Nelson 210-751; Summer 360 - Dick Rentschler 275-599; Country Club - Paul Regan 232-566; Starlifters - Joan Travers 186-733; Bell & Beam — Gary Andreini 229-592, Marilyn Mordus 171-442, B'nai B'rith - Dick Vandergrift 176-493, Rosalie Lazar 163-434.

D.C. Playground Roundup

DANIEL WEBSTER
By JOE ANISALE

Tournament day provided fun and excitement for the many boys and girls who participated in the day's activities. Contests included carroms, paddle pool, and checkers. Richie Annda took the "Carroms" title by defeating Frank Colclough in the championship game. Frank took second place while Mike Montague finished in third place. Others who did well in the carroms tournament were Don Ricci, Mike Folden and Howard and Arthur Ferrel.

Frank Gallo defeated Darlene Shenanberger in a two-out-of-three game series for the paddle pool title. Beating such contenders as Steve Baccei, Paul Riemer, and Frank Colclough, Mike Montague won the checkers title. Other participants in the checkers tournament were Lori Gallo, Terry Baccei, and Kathy Aggamone. Skillful participation, competitive spirit, and enthusiasm made Tournament Day at Daniel Webster fun and enjoyable for everyone.

M. P. BROWN
By LYDIA MERLO

M. P. Brown had a great week with our special event being a three-part race. The first event of the race was a 50-yard dash, the second was an "around the bases" run and the third was a cross-country race around the school. There were three age groups running and three winners in each age group. Randy Wyatt won first, John Rodriguez won second, and John Stolk was third place winner in the 9-10-year-old group. Ricky Wyatt, Ken Espina and Matt Amorose placed in that order in the 10-11-year-old group, and Ernie Garcia captured first, with a two-way tie between Jim Espina and Phil Skarianic in the 12-13-year-old group. The upset of the week was the defeat of "Ping-Pong King" Greg Gadner by the Skarianic brothers. Greg is undoubtedly the best Ping-Pong player in the area but both Skarianic brothers battled valiantly and rose from their underdog position to beat the boy we know affectionately as "King Pong." Greg vows revenge, and we are all waiting for the next match.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN
By GENESSE GENTRY

Abraham Lincoln School playground had its first annual scavenger hunt. The winners were Ellen Clawson, Carole Ann Clawson, and Elaine Frates. A twenty-eight dodgeball tournament is being held throughout the summer. The current champions are the Vampires. This team consists of Ellen, Don and Carole Ann Clawson. Teams may still join the fun. The only qualification is that the members' ages must total twenty-eight.

OUR LADY OF MERCY
By PEG DAVENPORT

There is never a dull moment at Our Lady of Mercy playground. A barbecue last week gave great delight to Brigid Modena, Mike Ahern, Janice Kelcheva, and Danny Cunnie. The scavenger hunt brought certificates to first place winners Joanne Ahern, Michele Modena, and Debbie McGrath. This week everyone is practicing diligently for the coming Frisbee and hula hoop contest.

OLYMPIA
By MIKE CIARDELLA

In the second game of the "Little World Series" between Westmoor Park and Olympia, Westmoor Park defeated Olympia 9-1. Hitting star for Olympia was Tom McLaughlin with two base hits. Matt Tonkovich played outstanding on defense. The series is now tied at one and one. Third game of the series was scheduled for Westlake Park on Friday, July 18, the result of that game will be given at a later date. On Friday, July 11, a Ping-Pong tournament was held at Olympia. Tom McLaughlin defeated Chet Welsh 21-15 to win the tournament. Other finishers are as follows: Third place, Ray Restivo; fourth place, Doug Robbins, fifth, Gary Stipanich; sixth, George McLaughlin; seventh, Steve Carr; and eighth, Jim Davino. Last week two special awards were given at Olympia, the Boy and Girl of the Week. Boy of the Week goes to Bob Massola. Girl of the Week goes to Dee-Dee O'Gorman.

VISTA MAR
By VIRGINIA SIMON

The highlight of the week at Vista Mar playground was a bike parade. First prize for the best dressed bike went to Bob Pierce. Weekly cookouts have been popular at Vista Mar and recently seen around the fire have been Ronald and Robert Mount, Lori and Joan Zucker, Lori Dardi, Mark Cody and Ronald Tyler. Frisbees have been sailing everywhere — red ones, blue ones and yellow ones, all in anticipation of the City Toss-off. A snail race and (back by popular demand) another scavenger hunt are planned as surprise events in the upcoming weeks.

WESTLAKE PARK
By BOB VERDUCCI

A very unique pet show occurred at Westlake Park this week. The pets ranged from turtles and dogs, to a mouse. "Baby", a dog owned by Gary Mace as "the most talented pet." Baby Bucchianeri, was selected by the audi- performed remarkably well as she danced, rolled over, shook hands, and played dead. "Jackie" the turtle, although not the speediest pet on earth, was chosen as the best dressed.

The owners are Lisa, Sally, Jeannie, and Andy Patt. "Speedie", the mouse owned by John Wilson, was voted as being the most unique pet in the show. John trained Speedie to run through a difficult maze.

Preliminary practice for the upcoming Tournament Day in August indicates that Elona Schich, Gary Bucchianeri, Bruce Costello, and the twins, Mike and Randy, are the ones to beat in Ping-Pong. Shrry Cole looks like the future chess champion and Paul Mifsud has been dominating the checkerboards.

The carroms champion will be a toss-up between Kirk Dave and Brad Reid. Upcoming events at the Park include a hula hoop contest on July 24, a cookout on August 1, a penny carnival on August 8, Tournament Day on August 15, and a surprise day to terminate the summer season. Also in August there will be special trips to Marin Town & Country Club and Lake Temescal.

WESTMOOR GYM
By R. K. MOSER

The Westmoor High School coaching clinic is in full swing going into its fourth week. This program put on by the Daly City Recreation Department features wrestling, tumbling and field sports from 1 to 4 p.m. daily. All boys from age seven to 14 are eligible. All they need is a desire to learn and an interest in sports. At this time several individuals are already showing potential as future athletes according to coach Ron Moser.

Tim Powell is "Mr. Heavy" in the wrestling class. Leonard Melts and John Marti also are doing a good job, but at lighter weights. Reed Quinn looks like the best tumbler so far, but Evan Lewis is keeping the pressure on him. All boys interested in this program should call the Daly City Recreation Department or contact coach Moser at the Westmoor gym.

WESTMOOR PARK
By PAUL PHALEN

Westmoor Park is having a tennis tournament this coming week. Any boys and girls who would be interested in playing sign up with Gerry Glass or the director by Friday. The high school softball team, "The Softballs," won their first two practice games and their first league game, 25-4, last week; Dana Marcus, Gordy Contraras, Joel Lesser, Steve Roche, Paul Romer and Brad Kearns teamed up for 47 base hits in the three games.

The junior high school baseball team, "The Hardballs," won three more games, defeating Palisades Park, Olympia, and Westlake Park. Once again it was the strong hitting and solid defense supplied by Brendon Milton, Dan Tomzack, Bill Allen, Ed Eassa, Howie Harband, Bill Hurley, Willie Hampton and John E. Murray that lead the Park team to victory.

Their team record is now five wins and one loss. This last week the girl athlete of the week award went to Dawn DeBarnardi, Sharon De Alba, and Dianne Mansicalco for their outstanding performance in softball, football and tennis. This week's slogan of the week award was given to John E. Murray for saying, "It's not all right anymore." Each week the park participants pick a slogan that they feel is most original for that week.

The junior high school girls' softball team (the Bunyans) won their twentieth game last week, defeating the 2's 8 to 7 in extra innings. The Park is going to have a barbecue this Friday. Anyone interested in attending can sign up with the head chef, Brendon Milton, or his assistant cooks, Steve Murray, Bob McLennan and Ted Grey.

WAR MEMORIAL COMMUNITY CENTER
By ANDY FOLEY

It's happening at the War Memorial Community Center! . . . What is it? . . . Quanto?! It's a collection of pennies from everyone. Come see! Come and guess how many there are and you win them all! The pennies keep filling the jar every day until the end of the month. Some of the philanthropists are: Sheila Craig, Carol Thrush, Laurie Pugh, Michael Miller, Pat Scally, Mario Pereira, and Mike Scally.

Anyone is welcome to come to the Center this Friday and watch champions of hula hoop from all playgrounds, all ages and sizes, compete for the Final City Honors. Tricks and stunts with the hula hoops by the contestants will put your eyes in awe and your mind in disbelief.

Some of the Center's best hoopers are Karen Saiz, Lilli Selor, Ronnie Pacheco, Mark Coleman, and Roberta Merlo, who will be competing. Many other fun-filled games are held at the Center. Favorite activities are Norwegian ball, German dodge ball, capture the flag, and volleyball. Some of the outstanding participants are Jaine Mignault, Nancy Saiz, Robert Ayala, Joseph Sanz, and Laura Murphy.

PAL Colts Win League

The PAL Colts coached by Jon Roy, Russ Chiosso and George Perry, recently captured the championship in the Daly City Recreation Department-eponsored Eighth Grade Junior Baseball League, notching a perfect 12 win, no loss season.

Members of this team are: Robby Roy, Jerry Mitchell, John Chiosso, Mike Hara, George Parry, Lance Judd, Bob Payne, Paul Nannini, Mike Hurley, Scott Loughy;

Kirk Dove, Ron Johnson, Dan Mayorga, Ron Guisti, Steve Rice, Leo Biederman, Lou Medrano, Mark Sanguinetti, Ralph Sands, Gavin Long, Monte Retke.

Plan S.S.F. Cage Clinic

The San Francisco Warriors Basketball Team will visit South San Francisco on Wednesday, July 30 at El Camino High School gym to present a free basketball clinic. This summer the clinic, sponsored by the SSF Recreation and Parks Department, will be held at 7 p.m. in the evening so that fathers and mothers may also see the pros with their youngsters.

Coach George Lee and Assistant Coach Al Attles, plus many members of last years S.F. Warriors team, will be on hand to give instructions to the boys and girls attending. Free tickets will be given to everyone and basketballs and Warriors T-shirts will also be given as prizes.

Families, boys and girls, teen-agers are all invited to attend, watch and talk with the professional basketball players.

BIGGEST CAGE CROWD

NEW YORK — A crowd of 75,000, the largest ever to attend a basketball game, watched the Harlem Globetrotters play in Olympic Stadium in Berlin, Germany, during a 1950-51 tour.

D.C. Baseball Clinic Plan

The Daly City Recreation Department has announced that a baseball clinic program will be conducted at Westmoor Park for boys 11 years of age and under, July 22 through August 20.

The program will be held each week on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Purpose of this program will be to instruct the boys in basic fundamentals of baseball and to offer individual experiences in competitive baseball play through the organization of intra-mural baseball league.

All boys interested in signing up for this program should meet with the recreation leader at Westmoor Park today at 10 a.m.

An Imperative Transit Need

To see the imperative need for rapid transit in San Mateo County it is necessary to look at the county as a whole, and as it really is, instead of following the tendency to a short view based on what is observable from any one of the county's cities. Seen as a whole, the bayside of the country is one large metropolitan area, which continues to grow at a steady pace, and the problems relating to transit are applicable to the whole, not to the individual cities or neighborhoods.

More, this whole view does not end at the county's borders for it is a part of a three-county metropolitan area that also includes San Francisco and Santa Clara counties.

Let's look at the daily number of trips made within this area. Figures developed by the now defunct West Bay Rapid Transit Authority show that, in 1965, a typical weekday generated five and a half million trips. Four years later this has likely moved up to six million. In the 1965 total San Francisco accounted for 1.55 million trips, Santa Clara County for 2.35 million, and San Mateo County for 1.24 million, but many of the trips originating in the other two counties passed through San Mateo County.

Of the three-county total of trips, 63.1 per cent were made by vehicle drivers, an additional 26.4 per cent were by passengers in private vehicles, and only the remaining 11.5 per cent were made via public transportation. This explains why streets and highways are jammed and why non-commuters will also benefit from rapid transit even if they only use it occasionally — they will enjoy less crowded, and less hazardous traffic when the commuters leave their autos at home.

How many commuters are there? Nearly 70,000 residents of San Mateo County hold jobs in San Francisco and another 18,000 go to jobs in Santa Clara County. Conversely, 19,000 San Francisco residents, and 20,000 Santa Clarans, commute to jobs in San Mateo County, and there is heavy traffic through here from the other two counties. Not all these people would use rapid transit, and some would be private vehicle passengers, but there is a potential of taking well above 100,000 autos a day out of the San Mateo County traffic tangle.

Naturally, the most direct benefit of rapid transit would apply to the commuters and those using it for interurban purposes, but these are the people who would pay the operational costs through fares.

It should be considered, also, that the San Francisco International Airport, the largest single source of jobs in San Mateo County, currently has no access by public transit other than buses. The airport employs 21,000 people and serves roughly 45,000 passengers and visitors daily. Convenient rapid transit would take nearly all of these people out of the traffic congestion as well as guaranteeing the economic stability of the airport operation under the competitive situation that will arise when BARTD is functioning.

While all this is not the full picture it shows what rapid transit can mean to the whole West Bay Area and to San Mateo County. It demonstrates the imperative need for rapid transit to preserve the county's economy, safety and sanity.

A Big Rock Collection

WATCHING the two Americans collect momentoes of their lunar probe Sunday we couldn't help but think, "Fantastic!" And what a wild vacation compared to the one we just climaxed, full of travel, too.

Hey, and there was the American flag being planted . . . up there (unusual note: saw two or three on 87th Street down here Sunday as well; at homes) . . . And look at the way the astronauts bounced at each step.

There was President Nixon on the phone, all that way . . . At least he waited until after seven p.m., when the lower long distance rates went into effect.

Funny, though, we kinda expected a delegation of Moonfolk to greet our wanderers—give 'em the large, gold key to the cheese chest, and all that.

It would seem the moon is one great big rock collection. Which might make it like San Francisco: A heckuva interesting place to visit, but a helluva place to live!

DOWN HERE, Jack Hopp, custodian at Garden Village Elem. School sent word he'd like to see some young vandals in orbit somewhere; at least marrooned on a desert island, all alone with their dumb selves. He's sick over some $2,000 damage to the Colma (Unionc.) school facility (Jeff Elem. District) . . . broken windows and damaged shrubbery.

"We taxpayers have to pay for this," Hopp emphasized.

He was upset enough to want to place adv. with us (he'd pay it), just to point out what's going on at Our School.

LATE ITEM from Pete Markovich, who reports he saw Herb Goodyear, social studies department head, soccer and tennis coach and German language teacher at Westmoor, on the tele (CBS) Sunday.

Goodyear was being interviewed atop the Space Needle in Seattle, Wash., as to his reaction to the Moonwalk.

Along with the widespread "fantastic," Goodyear said he saw the feat as probably one to unite the universe.

Letter to the Editor

'Fight to Save Our Earth'

Editor, The Post:

As of yesterday, July 7, 1969 you started printing a series of editorials dealing with our urgent need for Rapid Transit. It might unclog our highways, but for how long? What is the matter with the new Junipero Serra Freeway? It is never very congested. Doesn't it help solve the problem at all?

I would like to suggest that you might better utilize those two columns by discussing the need for birth prevention measures in this county and all over the country and world. I'm sure you know of the predictions of world wide famine within the next twenty years. If the rest of the world fails, we can not assume that our nation will be able to stand alone and survive. We are by no means a self-substaining society.

And if the predictions are indeed accurate what good will Rapid transit do us then. We can not eat it, nor will we be able to reclaim the money wasted on this project and apply it to badly needed programs to curb the population tide.

Please make your newspaper a leader in the fight to save our earth. Inform your readers about the eminsity of the problem. Help them start action groups, or join groups already in existance. If something isn't done today, tomorrow may never come.

ANN C. ANDERSON,
San Bruno.

Recent Novel On Moon Race

"Dear Mr. Librarian, what's the name of a recent novel about the race to the moon?"

The book is Pierre Boulle's Garden On the Moon. It is the story of the space race fictionalized in 1965. The novel begins in Peenemunde, Germany in 1942 and on the moon in 1970 with a surprise that spreads consternation and black rage throughout America as well as in Russia.

In an extraordinary way the author adds up the history of the space race prior to 1965 and forecasts the flights of the Apollos and the Russian spaceships. But the Japanese are going to have to hurry.

As a writer, Mr. Boulle is a "Johnny-come-lately" in the space race. Since the days of the ancient Greeks, men have been sending imaginary characters to the moon. Many enjoyed adventures that make the trip of Apollo eleven seem tame.

A story by a Greek author named Lucian of Samosata tells of Menippus who fashioned a pair of wings, one from a vulture and one from an eagle, and set out to visit Zeus on Mount Olympus. But the journey was long and Menippus set down upon the moon for a rest. There he found the philosopher Empedocles who was hurled to the moon by a volcano.

Johannes Kepler, known as the discoverer of the laws of planetary motion, deserted astronomy and mathematics long enough to send a character to the moon. His story is a dream about an earthman called Duracotus who was conveyed to the moon by demons. When they reached the point where the magnetic influence of the earth is superseded by that of the moon, they dropped him and he landed on the moon in a bed of grotesque flowers that fade in the course of a single day. But — "do not dispair for them" — a day on the moon, Kepler wrote, lasts 350 hours.

One hundred years ago Jules Verne wrote a book about three men and two dogs who were shot to the moon in a specially constructed shell from an enormous gun.

The ship that conveyed Mr. Verne's travelers to the moon was called the Columbiad. It was shot into space from a base in Florida while a multitude watched.

An excerpt from Jule Verne's story may be found in a book entitled To The Moon, edited by Hamilton and Helen Wright and Samuel Rapport.

It is a book to interest all who are following Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins. Here is an anthology that extends from primitive moon magic and folk tales to the observance of the space probes of the last few years.

There are sections entitled "Moon Lore," "Moon and the Poets," "The Moon and Superstition," "To the Moon in Fancy," "Observations" and "To the Moon in Fact."

The last cahpter is entitled "What Earthly Use Is the Moon." In it the author writes, "The moon's chief immediate resource is knowledge. Written upon the face of the moon is much of the history of the solar system — a record steadily erased from the surface of the earth by erosion, the laying down of sediments and the plowing under the landscape by the processes that thrust up the mountains."

Political Contributions

SWEAT SECTION—The Shadow Knows several of the politicians who received political contributions from Carl Gellert, recently named in an IRS complaint and indicted by the Federal Grand Jury, for making fraudulent deductions on income tax. But my lips are sealed. And so are the IRS agents' lips sealed. So there's really no sweat fellas! The political candidates were let off the hook because the IRS feels they do not fit into the picture. After all, it isn't their fault that someone wanted to donate to their respective campaigns and picked up various tabs for political ads and such. Soooo, you all can start breathing again.

BETTER READ UP—If there's one thing I HATE to do, it is prolong an argument. Some folks call it "beating a dead horse." But it's my DUTY to inform the Daly City staff and council there are provisions under State law that allow them to pass certain ordinances giving them the right to hand out traffic tags on private property—such as around shopping centers. So let's get the story straight and stop all the hedging.

SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE Frank Blum seen around the North County—at breakfast, lunch and dinner—with Gov. Reagan's appointments secretary, Ned Hutchinson. Our source, who doesn't miss much, said young Hutchinson is "one of them nice guys."

HISTORICAL QUOTES—Those from San Francisco County Sheriff Matthew Carberry in July, 1966, regarding the San Bruno jail:

"I don't see how the jail—which does not house felons or pre-sentence inmates—could endanger the surrounding community."

Regarding escapes:

"We . . . have averaged only two escape attempts per year. Not one of these escapees has bothered the people around here."

In the face of mounting criticism from Mrs. Carolyn Livingood, a member of the Pacific Heights Association, over conditions at the jail three years ago, Carberry noted:

"We aren't running a hotel here."

WE WONDER WHAT'S NEXT—Not too long ago the rumor was out that Assemblyman Leo Ryan (Dem-SSF) was getting ready to wrestle school boss Max Rafferty. The latest rumor (which are all smilingly denied, of course) is that Ryan will soon throw his hat into the Senate race against Richard Dolwig. Doesn't anyone think Ryan might just run again for the Assembly, or is that too far-fetched?

I DON'T KNOW about you folks, but I'm getting just a little tired of paying for the thousands of dollars worth of damage inflicted on public buildings by punks. (Oops! Sorry, I mean "mis-guided" children.) The latest to come across this desk concerns the rash of window breakings, plants uprooted and dirty words smeared on walls at the Garden Village School.

AFTER ALL THE WORK, it appears that proposed mobile home court on Hoffman (near Cypress Hills GC) is being financially delayed. If true, it's bad news.

THERE ARE LOTS of people in Daly City doing great work at the grass roots level to improve the city. May we suggest the Chamber of Commerce come up with a name OUTSIDE their own group?

UNHAPPY POLITICOS IN NORTH — It's no secret that Daly City officials are unhappy over present talks between San Mateo supervisors and San Francisco big-wigs over extension of BARTD through Daly City to International Airport. As usual, Daly City wasn't invited to share in the talks. After all, the tracks are running through the city — aren't they?

A Necklace of Sparkling Blue Lakes

Summer, winter, spring and fall each issue an invitation to the traveler along the Sierra Nevada's eastern side to take a side trip for a visit to the all-season area along the June Lake Loop Road.

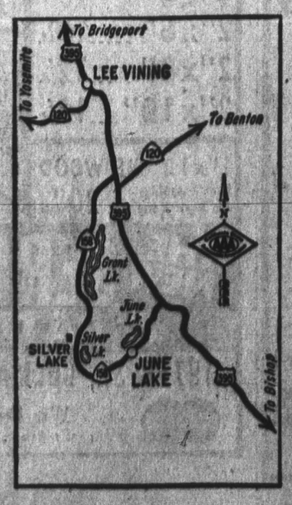
An area of sparkling blue lakes, dramatic and sheer mountain walls, and fabulous scenery, it offers everything to those in search of relaxation and enjoyment, says the California State Automobile Association. There is hunting, fishing, swimming, horseback riding, water and snow skiing as well as hiking, camping, packing into the wilds, exploring and loafing.

June Lake Loop Road extends 16 miles, passing four lakes: Grant (1,095 acres), Silver, Gull and June. All have boat launching and boat launching facilities and the fishermen will encounter several kinds of trout — Eastern brook, brown, rainbow, cutthroat. The shores slope gradually in most places, so bring along hip boots and a landing net for shore fishing.

These lakes are easy to reach, close to motels and cabins, markets, gas stations and trailer parks and are at the 7,200 to 7,600 foot level. Campgrounds for those who like to rough it under the skies are available at all but Grant Lake.

June Lake Loop is isolated from those on the western side of the Sierras in winter by snow-blocked passes and can be reached in winter only over Donner Pass or Echo Summit in the north or around by Bakersfield in the south. Summer routes are over 120 Tioga Pass, 108 Sonora Pass in the north. If you fly in by private plane, there are airstrips at Long Valley and Bishop.

Winter activities include skiing at June Mountain (10,212 feet) where you'll find powder and uncrowded runs, especially in mid-week, if you go high. There is a 1,260 foot descent in less than a mile from chair lift number three.



From vantage points at the Grand Chalet Schweizerhof, you look down on snow covered Gull and June lakes, into the valley at 1,000 feet lower elevation, at times even to Mono Lake 12 miles away.

Experienced skiers take the run beneath the lodge to the parking lot, but most runs are above the lodge.

Nature offers her challenges to hunters in this area with wily bucks roaming the wild country, and migratory wildfowl feed and rest on the lakes as they wend their way southward.

And if you want to get completely away from the small crowds around the lakes, a pack trip by horse to one of the higher lakes or to the primitive areas of the Sierras is available at Silver Lake Pack Station. Pony rides and regular riding are also offered.

If hiking is your thing, well-marked trails thread their way from lakes and back into the Sierras or across U.S. 395, and into the Mono Craters area.

The Loop is located in the Inyo National Forest and campgrounds are found throughout the area.

Exciting one-day excursions from the June Lake Loop can also be made to Devil's Postpile National Monument just south of June Lakes; around Mono Lake with its 80 square miles of bouyant salt water that is a skiers and boaters paradise; the Mono and Inyo Craters, giants in the classic style with their steep-sided cones funneling down to small lakes; the ghost town Bodie and Aurora and the Hot Creek State Hatchery where fish are raised to catchable size.

North County School Funds

Low wealth school districts in North San Mateo County will receive $2,496,257 in additional state aid as a result of the passage of AB 606," Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (D-SSF) announced Thursday.

Ryan spoke in favor of the bill on the assembly floor and voted for it in a 70 to 4 vote.

Ryan said that he was extremely happy that North County schools received as much as they did and cited the following figures: Laguna Salada will receive $768,012; Jefferson Elementary, $585,974; Jefferson High School, $128,250; San Mateo Elementary, $293,526; South San Francisco Unified will receive a total of $265,602 of which $218,178 will go to the elementary level and $47,424 to the high school.

Adult Art Classes Start in August

The Daly City Recreation Department announced today that the second session of summer classes are scheduled as follows:

BASIC DRAWING AND PAINTING: August 4 through September 8 (Mondays) 7-10 p.m. - $7.50 for five lessons.

BEGINNING AND INTERMEDIATE: August 7 through September 4 (Thursdays) $9 for five lessons 7-10 p.m.

Chlorine Leak Poisons 4

Four children participating in a swimming class at Pacifica's Terra Nova pool were hospitalized Thursday for treatment of chlorine poisoning, fire department spokesmen reported.

Firemen said an "overload" of chlorine was injected into the pool about 10:50 a.m. after a power failure caused pumps to malfunction.

Four children emerged from the water "vomiting and gasping for air," and about 30 other children participating in the swim class were quickly evacuated.

Firemen credited the pool manager, Miss Ethel Eastman, with "averting a tragedy" by swiftly evacuating the children.

Firemen administered oxygen at the scene to one of the victims, seven-year-old Dianne DeRogatis, 1022 Fassler Avenue, and she was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital by ambulance.

Three other children, Sherrie Reichle, 7, Lora Marroquin, 6, and Veronica Tempone, 8, were taken to the hospital by their parents.

All four of the children were released from the hospital after treatment.

Saari Heads Coast FSA

Ray Saari, psychiatric social worker in the Pacifica Family Service office, has been named interim Executive Director of the San Mateo County Agency.

Saari, who came to Pacifica from the San Francisco Family Service Agency, will hold the post until a permanent director is named. He will direct the agency's offices in Burlingame, Menlo Park, and Pacifica.

He replaces Michael E. Miller who has been with the agency for the past five years.

Family Service Agency provides professional counseling services to families and individuals with problems.

Fiesta Art Preview On Saturday

The Fine Arts Room and the Hall of Flowers at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds will be the setting for an invitational preview and reception Saturday which will launch the twenty-first annual Fiesta Art Exhibition.

The exhibition will open with the Fiesta a week from today.

Among the guests at the reception will be members of the sponsoring organizations, the Peninsula Art Association and the Bay Area Arts and Crafts Guild, and non-member artists whose work was selected for the show by a panel of judges.

The San Mateo County Fair Association will be represented by Sal Millan, general manager, and Mrs. Edwin H. Walter, fine arts and crafts chairman for the fair.

Robert W. Southworth, art show chairman, will present prizes and ribbons to winning artists of the exhibition at the reception. First prize winners who will be on hand for the presentation are Lawrence Miller, San Mateo, oils; Alexander Nepote, Millbrae, mixed media; Lee Quinley, San Mateo, Acrylics; N. Eric Oback, San Jose, water colors; Helene Barber, Los Altos, graphics; Amelia Solomon, Los Altos, sculpture; Ann Werner, Cupertino, ceramics; Roy Rosin, San Mateo, jewelry, and Paula Kane, Belmont, textiles.

Mafa Elston, PAA special events chairman, is planning decorations and refreshments for the reception with the assistance of Dorothy Borrmann and Mrs. Samuel Packman.

The exhibit this year will comprise 142 paintings and prints, 16 pieces of sculpture and many items in the crafts division, all of which were screened by judges. Categories include painting, lithographs, etchings, collages, mosaics and other media. Southworth, Luther Spraker, Mrs. Eleanor Bates Streloff and Darrell Greer will hang the works.

Mrs. Oskar Heil and Mrs. Lewis Wood, crafts co-chairmen, will collaborate with the fine arts group to display ceramics, hand-blown glass, textiles, stitchery, jewelry, enameled metal and holloware. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Knudsen will assist them.

The exhibit will be hosted daily by representatives of the following art organizations in the county: Burlingame Art Society, Art Guild of Pacifica, Foster City Art League, Thrity and One Artists and the Sequoia Art Group.

Representatives of all participating art groups will offer a new feature this year, art-in-action. Demonstrations by specialists in oils, acrylics, water colors and ceramics will be performed.

APPOINT NEW OFFICERS — The appointment of new chairmen for various projects of Mary's Help Hospital Guild was recently announced by the guild president, Mrs. Clifton D. West. (l. to r.) Mrs. Frank Kelechava, gift shop chairman; Mrs. John Joseph Fitzgerald, volunteer service chairman; Mrs. Mario Mangini, editor, guild newsletter and Mrs. West, president.

Banquet For Group

A banquet hosted by the Pacifica Youth Employment Service will be held Thursday night at Nick's Rockaway Restaurant.

Tickets for the banquet are available from the Youth Employment Service office at City Hall at a cost of $5 each.

A portion of the ticket price will go toward support of the Youth Employment Service, which is a non-profit organization assisting young persons seeking employment.

A number of speakers, including an FBI agent, will address guests at the Thursday night banquet.

Pie Eating Contest

WELL, YES, pie-eating contests do pose problems for some participants. Take this entrant in South San Francisco event last Friday . . . she had to have help to keep her hairdo from getting in the way. Find the winner of the event on Page 18. (Post Photos)

SHY CONTESTANT—Excitement, and perhaps the gastronomical challenge, was just too much for this contestant, who is comforted by a friend.

PATRICIA Joyce Rios, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael A. Rios of 99 Willits Street, Daly City, and Erwin Jose Bermudez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Bermudez of 2892 Folsom Street, San Francisco, recently exchanged marriage vows at the First Baptist Church of Richmond. Couple now lives in Germany, where he is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Daly City Chess Club Awards

The Daly City Chess Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, recently presented awards to prize-winning members in a special ceremony at Westlake Park Clubhouse.

Ladder tournament winners for the first half of 1969 were Dr. John Alden, champion, and William Bigelow runner-up.

Attractive chess clocks were presented to the following division winners:

Division A: Daniel Belmont, champion; Fred Schoere, runner-up.

Division B: William Bigelow, champion; Chester Offenback, runner-up.

Division C: Kenneth Hanson, champion.

Division D: Arthur Clarren, champion; Bob Johnson, runner-up.

The Chess Club meets each Tuesday at Westlake Park Clubhouse at 8 p.m. Membership is open to all interested persons wishing to better their chess skills.

Additional information may be obtained from club president Louis S. Korens, 40 Westhaven Drive.

Art Classes Offered In Daly City

Enrollment is now being taken for the second session of art classes sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

William Matheny, member of the Western Artists Association, will conduct the following classes at the Art Center, 101 Peoria:

Basic Drawing and Painting: Mondays, August 4-September 8. 7-10 p.m. Instruction fee is $7.50.

Basic and Intermediate Oils: Thursdays, August 7-September 4. 7-10 p.m. Instruction fee is $9.

Advance registration is requested for all classes. Interested students should send name, address, phone number, and instruction fee to the Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Boulevard, prior to the first class session.

Equipment lists are available upon registration. Plan now to enroll in one of these art classes and explore the world of color and canvas.

D.C. Actors In S.F.S.C. Production

A presentation of vivid scenes from Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" will culminate the summer's work of the San Francisco State College Theatre Workshop. The dramatic offering is at 8:30 p.m. in the Creative Arts' Little Theater on August 1.

Direction is by Barry MacGregor, formerly of the Royal Shakespeare Company and a member of San Francisco's ACT, who joined the College's summer program in which more than forty high school students receive college training. The project is headed by Dr. Samuel Elkind, Associate Professor of Drama.

Fern Tracey whose home in Daly City is at 477 Knoles Ave., plays a widow in the Shakespearian comedy while Ray Howard, 1295 Brunswick St., is Hortensio for the college production.

D.C. Man Hurt in Fog

Lawrence J. Ryley, 27, of 294 North Mayfair Avenue, Daly City, suffered critical head injuries at 2:20 a.m. Sunday when his motorcycle crashed in heavy fog on Skyline Boulevard at the Edgemar Freeway off-ramp.

Highway patrolmen said what caused Ryley to lose control was not determined. They noted, however, that the roadway was wet and slippery because of the fog.

The victim was listed in only fair condition in the intensive care unit of Mary's Help Hospital today.

Handy With Cakes?

Good morning, good cooks.

Are you handy with cakes? I hope so for I want to share with you some delicious cakes that are all made by hand, no electric mixers involved. I hasten to add that I have nothing against electric mixers, but it is fun to whip up a cake by hand now and then.

Mrs. Mary Kenney who lives at 65 Terrace Ave. here in Daly City is a generous gal who took time to send me these recipes. All the cakes are delicious and easy to mix and fix. We'll start off with an apple cake since I see cooking apples featured at the market.

APPLE CAKE

½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
one-half to two-thirds cup cold coffee
3 cups diced apples
1 cup chopped nutmeats
1 cup muscat raisins

In mixing bowl combine the half cup shortening, and one and one-half cups sugar; cream. Add the two eggs and stir well. Sift together the two cups flour, one teaspoon baking soda, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one teaspoon cinnamon and half teaspoon cloves. Add the dry ingredients to the creamed mixture alternately with the half cup cold coffee. (Measure out the two-thirds cup, add a half cup and if the dough seems thick add the rest).

Peel and chop the apples to a fine bit, add along with the cup of nuts and raisins to the batter. Pour into greased and lightly floured 9x13x2-inch baking pan and bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes. NOTE: Mary recommends the muscat raisins but you can use seedless if that's what you have. I tried currants and they are delish too).

CRUMB CAKE

½ cup sugar
1 cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
Two-thirds cup oil
2 cups flour

Sift the half cup sugar, cup brown sugar, half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon nutmeg and the two cups flour into mixing bowl. Add the two-thirds cup oil and mix well. Remove one-half cup of this mixture and set aside for topping for cake. To remaining flour mixture add the following ingredients:

1 egg
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
2 level teaspoons baking powder

Mix well and pour into greased baking pan 8x12-inches. Sprinkle with the topping. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes.

TOPPING

½ cup crumb mixture
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup chopped nuts

Mix all together and sprinkle over batter.

NOTE: This is a very moist batter, so don't get nervous if it looks rather thin, it bakes beautifully.

To sour milk: Add one tablespoon vinegar to a cup of milk and allow to stand for one-half hour at room temperature.

The last of Mary's recipes is for this delicious and rich date cake. Served warm with a dollop of whipped cream it makes a scrumptious dessert. Cold, it's only delicious.

DATE CAKE

½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup sour milk
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup diced dates plus ¼ cup flour

In mixing bowl combine the half cup shortening, one cup sugar and the one egg, mix and beat by hand until nice and creamy. Sift together the one and one-half cups flour and the teaspoon soda, add to the creamed mixture along with the cup sour milk.

Sift the one-fourth flour over the cup of dates. (This is to keep them from sinking to the bottom of the pan). And add the dates to the cake batter and stir lightly. Pour into greased and lightly floured baking pan, 8x13-inches. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly touched in center.

Immediately on taking from oven drizzle the following mixture over cake.

DRIZZLE TOPPING

½ cup sugar
6 tablespoons orange juice

In making this date cake I used a 9x9-inch pan, and it took nearly 60 minutes to bake. So you see that you have to adjust the baking time to the size of pan.

For the smaller cake I used 6 tablespoons sugar plus 4 tablespoons orange juice.

Fish Squares Are Now 'In' For the Crowd That's 'Out'

Summertime — the weather is balmy and you want to be outside. Well, summertime's the right time to forget formality — so, relax and enjoy life. Whether you're feeding the family or the boss, go ahead — now is the time to cook and eat outside where the breeze is soft and the sun is warm.

What could be simpler than ready-in-minutes fish portions cooked to perfection on a grill? Freezer-ready portions are great any time of year and are especially appropriate in the summer when the less time spent cooking — the better Whether you're planning a dinner on the patio, a picnic, or a camping trip, fish portions are right and ready, no muss — no fuss, just good eating.

The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries has a new receipe, Charcoal Broiled Portions With Choron Sauce, which is great for special occasions. The Choron Sauce, a variation of world-famous Bearnaise Sauce, elevates the practical, good-every-day fish potion into the gourmet class. Quickly cooked corn on the cob and flavorful broccoli or other in-season vegetables complete the feast. Be sure to have plenty of fish portions on hand; they will be eaten almost as quickly as you can grill them.

Did you know that fish portions are generally made from groundfish which includes cod, haddock, and pollock? The tender, serving-size pieces are cut from frozen blocks of fish fillets and are 100 per cent edible. Portions are always sold frozen and may be purchased breaded or unbreaded and either raw or partially cooked. They come in a variety of sizes and shapes to fit all needs. Keep frozen until ready to use, and cook without thawing. Fish portions may be baked, deep-fat fried, over-fried, pan-fried, broiled, or charcoal broiled on a grill.

Want to know more about outdoor seafood cookery? The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries has published a 24-page, full-color booklet that is filled with information on how to buy and prepare fish, how to build and light the fire, and 36 wonderful recipes for your use. Fish and Shellfish Over the Coals (I 49.39:14) costs 40 cents and is available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 2040.2

CHARCOAL BROILED PORTIONS WITH CHORON SAUCE

12 frozen raw breaded fish portions (2½ to 3 ounces each)
1 cup oil
Paprika
Choron Sauce

Dip frozen portions in oil and sprinkle with paprika. Place portions in well-greased, hinged, wire grills, cook about 4 inches from moderately hot coals for 5 to 7 minutes. Turn. Cook for 5 to 7 minutes longer or until fish are brown and flake easily when tested with a fork. Serve with Choron Sauce. Makes 12 servings.

CHORON SAUCE

½ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup water
4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon dried pasrley flakes
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne
3 tablespoons tomato paste

Melt butter in water in top of double boiler over direct heat. Remove from heat. Add egg yolks. Beat until mixture almost doubles in bulk. Stir in vinegar, onion, parsley, salt, and cayenne. Cook over hot water 5 minutes or until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in tomato paste. Serve warm. Makes approximately 2 cups sauce.

Tuna, Cheese In Pudding

Tuna Cheese Pudding
Baked Potatoes
Stewed Tomatoes Green Salad
Fruit Beverage

TUNA CHEESE PUDDING

1 can (7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
½ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup finely chopped onion
2 cups soft bread cubes (4 slices, crusts removed)
1 cup milk
3 eggs, lightly beaten
½ pound shredded Fontina, Italian Sharp or Kasseri cheese
½ cup sliced almonds

Mix together all ingredients except almonds; turn into a shallow buttered 1½-quart baking dish. Refrigerate at least 1 hour. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven to a custard-like consistency — 30 to 45 minutes. The center will be slightly soft but will set after being removed from oven. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

A Cookie To Top Off Light Menu

A substantial cookie with interesting flavor to wind up a light menu when youre' having a committee meeting.

Salad Nicoise Melba Toast
Charlotte's Orange Raisin Bars

CHARLOTTE'S ORANGE RAISIN BARS

2 cups flour, stir to aerate before measuring
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 medium-size thick-skin seedless orange
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 large egg
1 cup raisins

Grease a 13- by 9- by 2-inch pan. On wax paper stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. Wash and dry orange; do not peel; cut in half, slice and knife-chop very fine, saving juice; there should be about 1 cup. Cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in egg. Gradually stir in flour mixture, then prepared orange and the raisins. Turn into prepared pan and spread evenly — batter may be stiff. Bake in preheated 425-degree oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 25 minutes. Place pan on wire rack; loosen edges; let cool. Spread with confectioners' sugar moisted with orange juice. Cut in 3- by 1-inch bars. Store in tightly covered tin box. Makes 39.

Zippy Citrus Fruit Flavor For Pancakes

These pancakes have zippy citrus fruit flavor.

Orange-Grapefruit Pancakes
Canadian Bacon Beverage

ORANGE GRAPEFRUIT PANCAKES

¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
½ cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated grapefruit rind
1 tablespoon butter
Membrane-free sections from 1 orange and 1 grapefruit
Pancakes, see below

In a 1-quart saucepan thoroughly stir together the sugar, cornstarch and salt; stir in water and orange juice, keeping smooth. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened, clear and boiling; stirring gently, boil virorously for 1 minute. Add grapefruit rind, butter, orange and grapefruit sections; heat. Serve warm sauce over pancakes. Makes 4 servings.

Pancakes: Mix together until fairly smooth, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon salad (not olive oil, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind and 1 cup pancake mix. For each pancake, pour about ¼ cup batter onto hot lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning once.

Magical Milk — Many societies have attached mystical and magical powers to milk. Today we know that the only magic milk performs is to give you extra vim for your daily activities. Adults should drink 2 or more glasses of milk each day.

CREAMY SPINACH

1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach
½ cup boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon instant onion
1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms, drained
One-third cup commercial sour cream
White pepper to taste

Cook the spinach according to package directions using the water, salt and onion; drain. Mix in well the mushrooms, sour cream and pepper. Reheat. Makes 4 servings.

Here's a simple way to make deviled eggs. Add ¼ cup crumbled Blue cheese, ¼ cup dairy sour cream and ½ teaspoon vinegar to the yolks of six hard-cooked eggs.

Try These Cookies and Be Called a Genius By Children

By CECILY BROWNSONE
Associated Press Food Editor

"Mom, you're a genius!"

That's what the pre-teen son of a friend of mine said to his mother when she brought forth a platter of peanut-butter checkerboard sandwiches she had made for his birthday party. And all his young friends agreed.

We don't blame them for being enthusiastic. These sandwiches are the most intriguing ones we've laid eyes on in many a moon. And so good to eat The filling is nothing more than peanut butter mixed with imitation bacon bits or, if you prefer, crumbled crisply cooked real bacon. Simple but downright delicious.

These sandwiches are definitely party fare. There's work to do in the spreading and assembling. And right here we warn you that if you read through the directions, they'll sound complicated; but as you follow them during the making, everying comes easy and clear.

Are you ready then to make peanut-butter checkerboard sandwiches for your youngster's next birthday celebration? If so, you can let them make the main course for an early party supper. Serve them with cherry tomatoes, celery sticks inserted in carrot rings, sweet gherkins and milk or juice. With ice cream and cake for dessert, this menu will be ample.

These sandwiches freeze beautifully. When you're ready to use them, just thaw them in their wrapping.

PEANUT BUTTER CHECKERBOARDS

1 cup creamy peanut butter
2 tablespoons small-size imitation-bacon pieces
6 slices firm-type thinly sliced white bread
6 slices firm-type thinl sliced whole wheat or other dark bread

Stir together until well mixed the peanut butter and bacon pieces. Spread 1 slice of white bread with about 1½ tablespoons peanut - butter mixture; top with a white slice, spread white slice with about 1½ tablespoons peanut-butter mixture; top with a dark slice. There will be 4 slices of bread stacked with peanut-butter mixture filling.

Wrap the stack in plastic film and refrigerate. Prepare 2 more 4-slice stacks, following the same method; wrap and refrigerate. Chill stacks at least 1 hour, longer if convenient.

Remove 1 stack from refrigerator. With a serrated or very sharp knife, trim cursts generously so that all edges are straight. Slice the stack into 4 equal ribbon-stacks. Wrap 1 ribbon-stack and return to refrigerator.

Spread a wide side of one of the 3 remaining ribbon-stacks with 2 tablespoons peanut-butter mixture. Place a second ribbon-stack on top of peanut-butter mixture, making sure that strips of dark bread are on top of white bread and white strips are on top of dark. Spread with 2 tablespoons peanut-butter mixture and add the third ribbon-stack, again making sure than strips of dark bread are on top of white and white strips are on top of dark. Wrap and refrigerate this checkerboard stack.

Repeat the process, using the second refrigerated stack, and then the third refrigerated stack. This will leave 3 ribbon-stacks in the refrigerator. Use these to make still another checkerboard stack. Wrap and chill all 4 checkerboard stacks.

Just before serving, with a sharp knife slice each checkerboard stack into 6 checkerboard sandwiches about ½-inch thick.

Makes 24 checkerboard sandwiches.

Note: Crusts trimmed from stacks can be put in plastic bag and frozen for youngsters' future snacktime nibbling.

Watching Weight? Do Enjoy Salad

Here's the salad we often enjoy when we are watching our weight!

Coffee or Tea

Torn romaine, as much as you like
1 cucumber, peeled and sliced
1 can (6 ounces) solid white (albacore) tuna, packed in vegetable oil, vegetable broth and salt
2 to 4 pickled beets (from a 1-pound can), sliced

Arrange the romaine and cucumber on 2 luncheon plates. Pour the liquid from the tuna over the vegetables; break up tuna and scatter over vegetables. Garnish with beets. Makes 2 large servings.

Horseradish Applesauce Has 'Zing'

Add zing to applesauce and serve with pork chops!

Fried Pork Chops
Mashed Potatoes
Horseradish Applesauce
Broccoli
Pound Cake Beverage

Horseradish Applesauce

1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) sweetened applesauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon slightly drained bottled white horseradish
Grated lemon rind

Thoroughly stir together the applesauce, lemon juice and horseradish; chill. Sprinkle with lemon rind. To slightly drain the horseradish, in measuring press out some of the liquid with a fork. Makes about two cups.

Wheat Germ Pancakes

Sour Cream Wheat Germ Maple Syrup Pancakes with Butter and Crisp Bacon Beverage

SOUR CREAM WHEAT GERM PANCAKES

½ pint commercial sour cream
½ cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
¼ cup wheat germ
1 large egg
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon vegetable (not olive) oil

Turn all ingredients, in the order given, into the electric blender. Blend until all dry ingredients are moistened and batter is smooth; if necessary, stop blender midway, and with a spatula scrape down mixture on sides of container. Onto a lightly greased hot (375 degrees) griddle, using ¼ cup for each pancake, pour batter; bake until edges are slightly dry and bubbles appear on top — 2 minutes; turn and bake until brown on bottom — 2 minutes. Serve hot with butter and maple syrup. Makes 10.

Finocchio's Lucian Once Soprano In Church Choir

Lucian, the "Last of the Rednot Papas," has a ball with ringsiders at Finocchio's, home of the female impersonators. His quips with members of the audience bring down the house. Famous for his wardrobe of gowns, once the property of Sophie Tucker, Lucian has a booming voice a la Miss Tucker, and he can easily slip into a high range (he once was a boy soprano with a church choir) . . . Richard Hawker, manager of the Sizzler Steak House in Hillsdale Shopping Center, can really sling the bull — not just any bull, but only the finest, tenderest steaks you'll ever taste . . . Kimi Tanaka provides the comedy relief for the Tokyo Playmates, currently appearing at Forbidden City. Kimi is a spark plug who sings, dances and mimics. For an encore she plays the guitar, bass and banjo . . . You may not have a home where the buffalo roam, but Mr. Martay does. He's the buffalo hunter around Hal's Whistle Stop in Belmont. Giant Buffalo Burgers top the menu. If you haven't tried 'em, don't knock 'em. Once you have tried 'em, you'll return for more.

CARVED AT YOUR TABLE — "Dinners for Two" are dining hits in the intimacy of Stickney's Stage Coach Room in the 520 El Camino Building, San Mateo, presided over by Bill Roser, maitre d'-manager. The Chateaubriand Bouquetiere, with Bearnaise Sauce is presented on a massive, 30-inch brass chafing dish. Waiter Sab Bagedonow gives as much visual appeal to the famous beef dish surrounded by vegetables and garnishes as culinary interest.

One of the Peruvian dishes served at Frank and Fanny Torres' Montara hotel-restaurant (on the coast highway just south of Devil's Slide) is Papas Rellenas. Another favorite is the Arroz Con Pollo Special (chicken, Peruvian style) . . . Cantoloni and Chicken is the special Monday double-entree at Yolanda's Terminal Cafe, located in the heart of San Francisco's Produce Terminal. Served family-style and "All you can eat." Crab Cioppino, everyone's favorite, is served Friday night, reminds Yolanda and Manager Chuck Winstead . . . Zesty Mexican dishes such as enchilada, tacos, tortillas and Chili Con Queso, and standard American favorites are all served at Jim and Shelly Llewellyns El Patio restaurants (in Menlo Park and San Carlos). Food to go is another service here . . . San Francisco's favorite hot drink is Cafe Espresso. One of the few places which make the drink properly is L'Auberge in Atherton. Cappuccino and other fancy drinks made with liquers are also featured in the cozy lounge of the French bistro.

Vince Licata, who travels more than "Gulliver," is getting ready to leave for an East Coast vacation, during which time he and his wife will visit restaurants as well as relatives. When Vince returns to his Italian and Seafood restaurant, no doubt he will be off to Las Vegas for a "rest." . . . Margie Brandon, the featured pianist at Baron's Lounge on Powell Street, loves Country and Western music. "I'm a Canadian hillbilly at heart," she says . . . Check the "Who's Who" reservation book at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City—you'll be interested in seeing how many dining guests come from all parts of the country. Out-of-staters are always informing co-owner Mary Lou Francis that "our neighbor had dinner here and the food raves were so good we just had to try it, too." . . . Mayor Alioto was guest speaker at a Marina Merchant's Association Monday eve installation dinner at Lew Lehr's steak house in San Francisco. Lehr's popular restaurant is "dark" on Mondays, so the entire steak house, including the lounge, is available for private parties up to 125 persons.

Escargot Bourguignonne, a special snail dish, is one of many specialties offered by Nick Gust at his Moonraker restaurant, located in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach (right next door to Nick's restaurant). Prepared with 12 snails, dry bread crumbs, clove garlic, finely chopped parsley, and burgundy wine, this dish is heartily recommended . . . If Fryer Tuck could drop in on the current scene, the first place he'd most likely visit is The Cathedral in Burlingame, a Jack Menzie and Chris Vlassis creation. Well, he can't but you can. Enjoy the enchantment of a Medieval monastery setting, complete with stained glass windows, church pews and monk-clad waiters. Dine on gourmet dishes and unusual espresso coffees.

Free Coffee at Moars During Anniversary

It will truly be a "Happy Anniversary" for the thousands of Moars restaurant patrons who join the Twentieth year celebration by taking advantage of their daily prize drawing of a $10 Meal Coupon. In "eating words," every day, starting July 21 through August 21, Moars, one of America's finest cafeterias, will celebrate their twentieth year in the restaurant business at the San Francisco location (33 Powell Street). At 12 noon each day, a drawing will be held for a $10 Meal Coupon, and the winning number will be posted daily. Tickets for the drawing are available from the cashier. Contest rules are posted in the restaurant. On Thursday, August 21, at 12 noon the winning number for the grand prize, which is a portable television, will be held. There are no "losing days" when dining at Moars during this anniversary. As an added anniversary bonus, a FREE cup of coffee with any food purchase of 50 cents or more (per person and excluding coffee) will be served. Moars extends a personal invitation to the public to help celebrate this festive occasion.

The kids are not only welcome at any of Adrian Stickney's restaurants, but they are catered to with the Children's menu. Animal figures and circus ballerinas may be colored, punched out and made into mobiles for hanging on the ceiling. The novel souvenir menus feature such moppet favorites as "Twinkletoes" (ground round patty, with French fried potatoes, and milk or coke). Prices are modest — in the $1.30 or less . . . Bertolucci's, famous South San Francisco restaurant hosted by the brother-sister team of Larry Bertolucci and Lola Bogdan, features a wide assortment of luncheon and dinner specials. A Diet Lunch (ground sirloin, tomatoes, cottage cheese) is also available for weight watchers . . . Longley's Plaza Room is where lovely Nancy Valencia offers her outstanding piano renditioning Monday through Friday from 9 p.m. The Plaza Room specializes in hofbrau-style dinners . . . Out of towners who flock to San Francisco to escape the Summer heat appreciate the air-conditioned comfort at Phil Lehr's Steakery. The Steakery is one of only a few top San Francisco restaurants completely air-conditioned from lounge to banquet room.

Bruno Key Link To Viet War

The SS Montana, the 2000th vessel carrying construction materials to South Vietnam for use in America's massive building program there, is scheduled to leave the Naval Supply Center, Oakland, on July 23, 1969, Capt. Arthur P Minwegen, Civil Engineer Corps (CEC), U.S. Navy, announced today. He is the Navy's Resident Officer in Charge of Construction Contracts, Pacific, headquartered at the Naval Facility in San Bruno.

Shipments to Vietnam have been used on the largest U.S. Construction Contract in world history—which is administered by the Navy's Officer in Charge of Construction in Vietnam, Rear Admiral H. J. Johnson. Under the contract the Joint Venture of RMK-BRJ has built six deep-water ports, more than a dozen jet airbases, cantonments with facilities for up to 270,000 men, hundreds of acres of open and covered storage for materials and supplies of all types, miles of roads, scores of bridges and thousands of buildings of all types.

To mark the occasion, a special plaque will be presented to Capt. Albert Sinnes, Master of the SS Montana by Capt. Minwegen.

Rear Admiral W. M. Hegman, CEC, USN, the Commander of the Pacific Division, Naval Facilities Engineering Command (NFEC), is expected to come from his Pearl Harbor headquarters to attend the ceremony, Capt. Minwegen said. Also invited to attend are:

Rear Admiral L. B. McCudden, Commandant, Twelfth Naval District.

Rear Admiral J.J. Appleby, Commanding Officer, Naval Supply Center.

Brigadier General D. H. Richards, Commander, Western Area, Military Traffic Management and Terminal Service.

Brigadier General J. D. Crowley.

Rear Admiral W. Pugh and Capt. R. A. Hubbard of Military Sea Transportation Service.

Capt. J. Schultz, USN, Commander, Military Ocean Terminal Bay Area.

Colonel C.J. Papik, Commander, Pacific Area Movement Priority Agency and many other military and civilian dignitaries of the logistic support agencies located in the Bay Area and on the West Coast.

William McMurren, Vice President, Morrison Knudsen, Boise, Idaho; James Lilly, Vice President, Morrison Knudsen International Operations, San Francisco, and Larry King, Project Manager of RMK-BRJ, San Bruno, will be the principal representatives of the construction joint-venture, RMK-BRJ.

With departure of the SS Montana the total of construction materials and equipment shipped to Vietnam from continental U.S. ports since 1965 will reach nearly 2 million measurement tons. Shipments to other construction sites in the Pacific Ocean area have been nearly 200,000 measurement tons during the same period, the Captain said.

ROICC Pacific has been involved in one way or another with every ounce of that nearly 2 million measurement tons. Its office here, and its branches at Davisville, R.I., and Port Hueneme, Calif., provide support services—procurement, technical, engineering and logistical—to the commands of the Pacific Division NFEC.

In addition to ROICC Pacific, the Division Commander also commands Officers in Charge of Construction in Pearl Harbor, Guam, Manila, Saigon, Bangkok and Japan. As the designated Department of Defense construction agent in most of the Pacific Ocean area, the Division supervises the design and construction of facilities for the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines, for all other agencies of the U.S. Government, and for foreign governments as requested.

During the peak of its activity, RMK-BRJ completed work at the rate of about $60 million a month, or more than $2 million each working day. There were more than 510,00 people on its payroll, most of them Vietnamese with a few thousand third country nationals and American supervisors.

GERMAN STUDENT BEGINS DALY CITY STAY—Mr. and Mrs. Guido de Ghetaldi (right), Daly City, welcomed their summer foster child, Hans-Joachim Bracht, as he arrived from Emden, West Germany, to begin an eight-week visit in the De Ghetaldi home. Hans and the De Ghetaldi daughter, Laura, traded homes for the summer as participants in the Volkswagen Youth Exchange Program. The Bracht-De Ghetaldi summer exchange is sponsored by Ed Norris Volkswagen, 6918 Mission Street, Daly City. Also on hand to greet Hans at San Francisco International Airport was Walter Spielberger, general service manager for Reynold C. Johnson Company, VW distributor for northern California, Nevada and Utah. The Johnson firm is the official co-ordinator for the exchanges that take place within its geographic area.

Doll Show At D.C. Playgrounds

Spokesmen for the Daly City Recreation Department announced the city's Tenth Annual Doll Show will be held at each of the summer playgrounds during the week of August 11-15.

Playgrounds will conduct one-day shows on the following schedule: August 11: Abraham Lincoln School, Skyline School, F. D. Roosevelt School, Vista Mar School (Palisades and Northridge) Westmoor Park.

August 12: Colma Intermediate School, Vista Grande School.

August 13: Panorama School, Lincoln Park, G. Washington School, Crocker School, Olympia School.

August 14: Midway School, M. P. Brown School, Our Lady of Mercy, Jefferson Elementary School.

August 15: War Memorial Community Center, Daniel Webster School, Westlake School, Woodrow Wilson School and Westlake Park.

Children should enter dolls at the playgrounds nearest their homes. Entries will be taken in the following divisions: Large dolls, Miniature Dolls, Bride Dolls, Animal Kingdom Dolls, Collections, Group Entry, and Contemporary Dolls.

Ribbons for first, second, and third place winners will be awarded in each category of each division. Every child entering a show will be awarded in each category of each division. Every child entering a show will receive a special participation award. Each show will be highlighted by the presentation of a trophy to the doll judged "Best In The Show."

All shows will be conducted on the following schedule: 10 a.m.-12 noon, registration; 12 noon-2 p.m., judging; 2 p.m.-3:30 p.m., public show; 3:30-5 p.m., release of dolls.

All entries must be claimed by 5 p.m. on the day of the show. The Recreation Department will not be responsible for dolls left after 5 p.m. Contact local playground for additional information.

S.S.F. Builds 'Cable Cars' For Japan

Four replicas of San Francisco's famous cable cars are being manufactured in South San Francisco to operate at Japan's giant Expo 70 next year in Osaka.

The cars will be modeled after the now-extinct Sutter Street line cars made in 1875 and will be motorized—that is, they won't run on rails and be pulled by a cable, but will be powered by an automobile or truck motor.

However, their operators, provided by San Francisco's sister city of Osaka, will wear genuine Muni Railway uniforms, says George Curran, finance chairman of the sister city committee that is planning San Francisco's participation in the exposition.

San Franciso apparently will be the only foreign city with its own pavilion at the fair, said Curran. It will have a main station, made of redwood, naturally, and the cable cars will shuttle between it and several substations a quarter of a mile away.

They'll have one feature that the 1875 originals didn't: Tape recordings recounting San Francisco's history in Japanese and English.

Taxi Fares In Daly City Are Hiked

Taxi fares in Daly City were hiked ten cents for the first one-fifth mile last week following approval of the new rates by the city council.

Charles L. O'Conner, vice president of Yellow Cab Company, explained increased costs dictated the need for a fare adjustment.

After listening to cab company spokesmen and the public, the council agreed with the request.

O'Conner also informed the council earlier that there was some confusion on the part of cab patrons because of the difference between fares in San Francisco and Daly City.

The new rates would be the same for both cities, he said.

LORENE BEASLEY

QUESTION: Why don't you do something about the obscene literature I received and forwarded to you?

ANSWER: The prevention of the use of the mail is a function of the Post Office department and the Federal Court. Under a new Federal law, a family receiving materials they consider sexually provocative may ask their local postmaster to notify the promoter that he is not to send any more mail of any kind to them. This is done on a form which the Post Office provides. After the request is properly submitted, the Post Office sends a prohibitory order directing the promoter to refrain from further mailings to the complaining patron. After 30 days, if mailings are still being received, the patron should bring the matter to the attention of the Post Office, together with the mailings themselves and the envelopes in which they were went. If the mailer still fails to respect the order, action may be taken through the courts.

QUESTION: What can I do to stop a store from letting my teenager daughter charge on my charge account? She does not have my credit card.

ANSWER: First apply parental dsicipline. If this does not work you might have a talk with the credit manager of the store.

QUESTION: We are moving to a different climate and I will have little need for the clothing I put in layaway. Do I have to take it anyway?

ANSWER: You and the store are bound equally by an agreement. Merchandise put in layaway is withdrawn from stock. The seller is obligated to deliver the merchandise according to the terms of the agreement. If the purchaser decides he does not want the merchandise, the seller is under noo bligation to make a refund or exchange.

QUESTION: What is meant by the term "comparative price?

ANSWER: Do not be misled by "comparatives." When comparative prices appear in advertising, the higher price is of no value unless it represents the price at which substantial sales have been made by principal retail outlets in the area. Make every effort to shop them before making a buying decision.

QUESTION: What does the term "par" selling mean?

ANSWER: The term "par selling" refers to an unethical practice in selling roofing, siding, windows and other home improvements.

It means that the dealer who contracts to do the work, quotes a basic price to his salesman but permits the salesman to charge the customer any price above that basic price. In some cases, the dealer and salesman split the difference.

The FHA states, "par selling is considered to exist in any case where the salesman rather than the dealer establishes the selling price of a home improvement job to the buyer". FHA considers the use of "Par selling" sufficient basis for instituting precautionary measures against offenders and refuses to insure loans initiated by dealers who continue to use it.

Youth Symphony Wins Aussie Cheers

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)—The 102 members of the California Youth Symphony Orchestra departed for home Tuesday, leaving behind them a trail of praise for their 16 performances in a month-long tour of Australia's eastern seaboard.

Aaron Sten, of San Mateo, conductor of the 13 to 18 year old boys and girls drawn from San Francisco Bay Area schools, said his orchestra's reception by Australians on and off the platform had been "fantastic, unbelievable. We filled halls everywhere we went. All our concerts were sell-outs."

Commencing with Brisbane on June 25, the youth orchestra played Sydney twice, Melbourne, and Canberra for a total of five formal evening concerts in town halls, four university engagements and seven concerts for primary and high school audiences.

While in Australia members of the orchestra were guests in private homes and gained as much praise for their ability to fit in socially as they did for their musical performances.

Headlines on newspaper reviews of the orchestra's performances, reflected the kind of impression the young group made in Australia.

After a Melbourne performance a headline read, "California Orchestra Wows Them." Another said "Amateurs With the Touch of Professionalism" and yet another said "A Young Orchestra We Could Emulate."

The Youth Symphony's selections ranged from the classical to jazz renditions specially prepared for it by Duke Ellington, one of the group's fund-raising patrons.

Australia was the orchestra's third international tour.

The first was to Japan six years ago, followed by a tour of Mexico in 1966.

A review of the Brisbane Courier-Mail after the orchestra's first performance set the tone for Australian journalistic appraisal of the group.

Critic Frederic Rogers wrote of that occasion, "It will be a proud day for Australia when we can pay California a reciprocal visit with a youth orchestra of comparable quality."

The orchestra was aboard Qantas flight 588 which was due in San Francisco at 4:50 p.m. PDT Tuesday.

Save Bay Group Raps New Bill

A strong denunciation of Senate finance sommittee approval of the Nejedly bill was launched today by the Save the San Francisco Bay Association. In a telegram Tuesday the group stated:

"The action of the Senate finance committee in suddenly approving a weak bay bill sabotages the combined efforts for sttrong bay legislation by Knox, Marx, Petris, Dolwig, and other Bay Area legislators. Will Siri, president of the Save San Francisco Bay Association stated that the Nejedly bill can only serve the special interests of Leslie Salt, David Rockfellers bank, Santa Fe, the cities of Albany and Emeryville who, among others, are united in their determination to fill the bay. This outrageous attempt to kill responsible legislation which incorporates the major recommendations of the existing Bay Conservation and Development Commission cannot be condoned by our association or any informed citizen of the state,' said Dr. Siri."

Rifleman Is Assigned

U. S. ARMY, Vietnam — Army Private First Class David R. Jameson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Jameson, 154 Trollman, San Mateo, was assigned June 20 to the 4th Infantry Division in Vietnam as a rifleman.

DEATHS

AMERICO LAZZARI

Americo Lazzari, 88, of 110 Maple Avenue, South San Francisco, died July 15 in Burlingame.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Friday from Nauman and Lincoln Chapel. A requiem mass was celebrated at 9:30 a.m. at All Soul's Catholic Church, and entombment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

A native of Italy, Lazzari resided in South San Francisco 69 years.

A retired grocer, he was a member of the Druids Galileo Grove in San Francisco and the Operia of South San Francisco.

Survivors include his widow, Santina; a son, Nello Lazzari, and a daughter, Nella Tenia, South San Francisco; a brother, Tony Lazzari, South San Francisco; two sisters in Italy; three grandchildren, nine great grandchildren and a number of nieces, nephews and other relatives.

ALFRED ZOPPI

Alfred M. Zoppi, 72, 273 Mastick Avenue, San Bruno, died Wednesday at Peninsula Hospital of an illness. He was a native of Olema, a veteran of World War I and a member of the International Order of Foresters.

Surviving are his wife, Florence, of San Bruno; five children, Mrs. Alice Williams, of Boulder Creek, Edward A. Zoppi and Mrs. Regina Anderson, both of Santa Clara, Mrs. Betty Griffin, of Petaluma and Mrs. Dorothy Capra, of Garden City, Mich.; a sister, Mrs. Zelina Gamboni, of Atherton, 22 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

A requiem mass was at St. a.m. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma, Friday.

GOLDIE M. HOLSWORTH

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. on Monday from the San Bruno Funeral home, San Bruno, for Goldie M. Holsworth, 69, 1631 Parkview, San Bruno, who died on Thursday at Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame.

A native of Nebraska, she is survived by: her husband, William; a step-son, Earl of San Francisco; a step-daughter, Shirley Allen of San Francisco; and four step-granddaughters.

Interment was at Skylawn Memorial Park, San Mateo.

MARJORIE M. KETTERMAN

Funeral services for Mrs. Marjorie M. Ketterman, 45, who died Sunday at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco after a long illness, will be at the family home, 13196 Skyline Boulevard, Woodside, today.

Mrs. Ketterman had lived on Skyline the past six years, moving from San Carlos. She was a native of Queensland, Australia.

Survivors include her husband Charles; two sons, William and Martin, and a daughter, Mrs. Vanna Scott, all of Woodside; two sisters, Mrs. Lillian Phillips and Mrs. Dorothy Smith, both of Australia; two brothers, Alex and William Forrester, both of Australia; and one grandson.

Friends may call at Dutra-Randleman Funeral Home in Half Moon Bay tonight until 9.

MUJO RAICEVICH NICKOLAS

Services were held today at the San Bruno Funeral Home Chapel for Mujo Raicevich Nickolas, 76, who died July 19 at Napa. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

He was the father of Ivan Raicevich of Millbrae.

A native of Yugoslavia, Raicevich resided in California 39 years.

JOHN JOSEPH SUDDARTH

Funeral services were held today from Nauman and Lincoln Chapel for John Joseph Suddarth, 43, of South San Francisco, who died July 18. A 3 p.m. service was scheduled at the First Lutheran Church of South San Francisco.

A native of Phoenix, Suddarth resided in South San Francisco 12 years.

Survivors include his widow, Natalie; a son, James L. Suddarth, and stepson, John Gibbons of South San Francisco.

JOSEPH P. SEXTON

Joseph P. Sexton, 54, 331 Magnolia Avenue, Millbrae, died Saturday at Peninsula Hospital after an illness.

He was a real estate contract analyst with Standard Oil Company of California and resided in Millbrae for the past 20 years.

A native of San Francisco, he is survived by his wife, Genevieve Kelleher Sexton of Millbrae; two sons, John and Michael; a daughter, Mrs. Joanne Rooney; his mother, Mrs. Marie Sexton; a brother, Peter Sexton of Sacramento, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from Chapel of the Highlands, Millbrae, yesterday morning, with a requiem mass at St. Dunstan's Catholic Church. Interment was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. Spiritual bouquets are preferred.

D.C. Women Hostages To A Burglar

Two Daly City women told police July 15th they had been held hostage in their Frandfort street home July 13th while a burglar systematically ransacked their house.

The couple explained they had delayed reporting the incident for fear of reprisal.

Emma Ruth Porter, 48, and Margaret Stroman, 78, said a neighbor youth pried open a window and tied them up shortly after 6 a.m. Sunday.

He also taped their mouths shut and threatened reprisal if they "called the cops."

The victims freed themselves after the susptct fled with an undetermined amount of cash and jewelry, but decided against calling police for fear he would carry out his threats.

Tuesday, police were called into the case and within hours a warrant was issued for the arrest of John Matherson Bradstreet, 21, of 65 Frankfort Street.

Peninsulans Win CPA's

The State Board of Accountancy has awarded certified public accountant certificates to seven San Mateo area residents.

In addition to passing a difficult 19-hour examination, each new CPA must have a minimum of two years in specific areas of public accounting including the preparation and analysis of financial statements.

The newly certified California CPAs are Akio Inouye, 1641 Hull Drive, San Carlos; Alan C. Gordon, 2700 Medina Drive, San Bruno; B. Thomas Kenyon, III, 119 E. Bellevue, San Mateo; Robin A. Bettencourt, Twelfth and Farallone, Montara; Dale J. Bundy, 2220 Oakmont Drive, San Bruno; Craig A. Foster, 182 W. Thirty-sixth Avenue, San Mateo, and Michael N. Owen, 1456 Tarrytown Street, San Mateo.

More Workers Needed For N. County

Increases in their employee needs for the third quarter of 1969 are predicted by 56 per cent of Upper Peninsula area businessmen, according to results of an independent employment outlook survey conducted by Manpower, Inc., international temporary help organization.

Mrs. Marian Ogle, Business Development Manager of the local Manpower office, said that 40 per cent of those polled said they expect no change in their employment needs during July, August and September, while none expect decreases. The remaining four per cent said they "don't know."

For U.S. Labor Department Region 10, which includes Arizona, California and Nevada, 26 per cent of those surveyed predicted increased employment for the third quarter. Stable employment was forecast by 61 per cent, while nine per cent expect a decrease. The remaining five per cent said they don't know.

Nationally, 26 per cent of those surveyed expect employment to increase during the second quarter, with 68 per cent predicting stable employment. Five per cent expect a decrease, and the remainder said they have no opinion.

Analysis of the industries polled nationally shows that, of those predicting increases for July, August and September, the highest percentages are in building construction (43 per cent), public utilities (38 per cent), retail auto dealers (34 per cent), transportation equipment manufacturing (34 per cent), and trucking and warehousing (33 per cent).

In a breakdown of U.S. Labor Department regions, the survey shows Region 12 (Hawaii) to be the most optimistic, with 47 per cent of those polled predicting employee increases. In Region 9 (Colorado, Montana, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming) 45 per cent predict increases.

Among the regions, the greatest percentages predicting decreases for the third quarter are in Region 10 (Arizona, California, and Nevada), where 9 per cent expect cutbacks.

Region 4 (Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee) indicated the greatest stability, with 74 per cent indicating no change in their employment needs.

The quarterly survey is the forty-seventh conducted by Manpower, Inc., international temporary help and business service firm, through its network of offices in the United States. Manpower has more than 600 offices on six continents.

Fire Sweeps Bruno Mtn.

Eleven firemen in four trucks from State Division of Forestry headquarters in Belmont battled for 45 minutes Thursday after noon to contain a fire which swept over 10 acres on San Bruno Mountain near the intersection of Radio Road, Crocker Avenue and the Guadalupe Expressway.

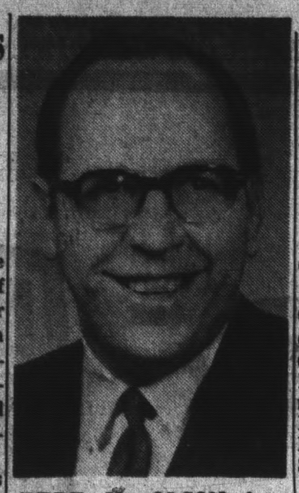
Firemen reported that the fire may have been started by motorcyclists as fresh motorcycle tracks were discovered all about the area. During the battle to mop up the fire, one truck had to be summoned to Hillside Boulevard and Holly Avenue to extinguish a small fire there. A South San Francisco fire department engine company stood by the second fire until the arrival of state firemen. After extinguishing the smaller fire, firemen returned to the top of the mountain to work on the original fire.

Firemen said it took two hours to extinguish the larger fire completely. Yesterday's fires with the 38th and 39th of the year on San Bruno Mountain, compared to only 30 at this time last year.

Baton Class At Bruno

City of San Bruno Recreation Department will be offering its third and fourth sessions of Baton Twirling classes at the Recreation Center.

Session III will begin on August 4 through 15. Registration for the session will be July 28 through August 1. Session IV will begin on August 18 through 29. Registration for the session will be August 11 through August 15. Registration will be taken at the Reacreation Center office from 10 to noon and 1 to 5 p.m.



BERT H. OLSON has been promoted to assistant manager of Wells Fargo Bank's Brentwood office in South San Francisco. Olson joined the bank in 1963 in the head office, auditing department.

High-Speed Chase Looks Like 'Parade'

Even sheriff's deputies joined in the high speed parade through the streets of San Bruno, South San Francisco, Daly City and Pacifica swerving from one side of the road to the other in an effort to avoid tangling with early morning traffic.

The pursuit started shortly after 7 a.m. when Daly City patrolman Don Cubic spotted a motorcycle without license plates allegedly speeding along Serramonte Boulevard.

Cubic turned on his car's red lights and siren and started following the motorcycle, but instead of stopping the driver accelerated and attempted to "shake" the patrol car.

As the motorcycle and police car whizzed through one city after another, other local police units joined in the chase.

During the chase, officer Cubic noticed that the brakes on his car no longer functioned properly. However, he continued after the motocrycle, finally stopping it in San Bruno.

Cubic arrested Wilson M. Lewis, 28, of 1257 Skyline, Pacificia, and charged him with running several red lights, stop signs and driving on the wrong side of the road.

The officer said Lewis also gave at least a half-dozen motorists grey hair as he ran them off the road.

A Pacifica motorcyclist was arrested and charged with reckless driving yesterday after he led police from four North County cities on a wild 22-minute chase at speeds topping 80 miles per hour.

Fraudulent Sales Charged to Dealer

In a recent suit filed in San Mateo Superior Court, customers of Ralph Williams Bay Shore Chrysler-Plymouth charged Williams and other Bay Area auto dealers with fraudulent sales and deceptive advertising.

The seventeen-page complaint charges the auto dealers offered to sell cars at mothly rates far lower than payments actually required by the purchase price, to get the customer to sign a sales agreement. Once the agreement is signed, the customer is told a mistake was made in figuring the monthly payments and the payments will have to be increased. The dealers are accused to similar price manipulations in calculating the costs of auto insurance. These practices, according to the complaint, are regularly used by dealers "to confuse, deceive and mislead customers in order to obtain their down payments and then trick and intimidate them into buying automobiles at higher monthly figures."

The suit also charges Williams and other dealers with making false and misleading statements in television advertisements and televising partial "views of automobiles which grossly misrepresent their actual physical condition."

The Bay Shore customers are seeking to enjoin Williams and other Bay Area auto dealers from contunuing the alleged fraud and misrepresentation, and are asking for damages of $5,000 each from Williams. The suit, if successful, could directly affect auto dealers throughout the state.

The suit was filed by D'Army Bailey and Michael Woods of the San Francisco Neighborhood Legal Assistance Foundation.

VERA R. WALLACE has been promoted to credit officer at Wells Fargo Bank's Brentwood office South San Francisco.

Boys Hurt In Accident

Two children were treated at Peninsula Hospital for injuries suffered in falls.

Thomas Gillen, age two, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gillen, 2790 Concord Way, San Bruno, is in fair condition in the intensive care unit. He fell out of a car.

Kim Tolman, age 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tolman, 313 Madrone Avenue, Millbrae, is in guarded condition in the intensive care unit. She was injured in a fall at home.
